

Discharge Program For Kinzua Dam Waters Discussed

The king is dead, long live the king!

This, in short, is what officials of the Corps of Engineers told a large group of interested persons gathered in the auditorium of the Tionesta High School Saturday afternoon as they discussed the discharge program of waters from the Kinzua Dam.

Goose, they told their audience, is the cantankerous river that once flooded over its banks to cause property loss and endanger lives or on occasion ran ankle deep with foul smelling water during periods of drought.

A new river has been born. A river that will flow within very specific limits except during the most dire emergencies. Never excessively high nor excessively low.

These officials admitted, however, that a controlled river does create problems that users of the river, especially for recreation, will have to adjust to in the future. Waters stored in the dam during periods of high water are apt to keep the river at a higher than normal stage for some time while being discharged and "flow augmentation" demands will eliminate periods of low flow when some areas were best suited to fishing, swimming and boating.

This, they said, was the pride of flood protection and the general improvement of flowage conditions. But such programming conformed to stipulations in the act passed by Congress when they authorized the building of the Kinzua Dam.

Tom Reilley, chief hydrologist of the Corps of Engineers, presented these facts as the meeting opened, stressing the points of his talk with a series of diagrammatic slides.

Vern Houghton, chief river forecaster in the Pittsburgh office of the Weather Bureau, followed Reilley to the microphone. Houghton detailed the problems created by weather conditions in programming the discharge from the Kinzua Dam, other flood control dams, and the uncontrolled tributaries that add to the river's volume. He pointed out that a few inches of rainfall over the thousands of square miles drained by the Allegheny River presented a major drainage problem if flooding was to be prevented at all points along the river.

In the question-answer period that followed the prepared talks, the audience was highly responsive.

Of chief interest was the question of what could be done to alert the public to heavy discharges so that they would not come as unexpectedly, or in such magnitude, as in the past.

After some discussion it was decided that an effective alerting system should be devised. Following a suggestion from the floor, it was decided that starting next April Houghton and Reilley would attempt to release a five-day forecast of Kinzua discharge rates (similar to the five-day weather forecast) and continue it through November. The information will be released on Thursday of each week so that it will be most meaningful to those interested in using the river on weekends.

Another matter of wide interest was the future potential of the river as a fisherman's paradise, a rating it has maintained for many years among fishermen of the Tri-state area.

Kenn Buss, chief biologist of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, was called to the microphone to answer this question.

WEATHER

More snow flurries are predicted for today but no accumulation is expected. The high today will be in the 30s. Tomorrow cloudier and warmer. The sun rises at 6:59 a.m. and sets at 5:09 p.m. Saturday's 7 a.m. report: high, 51; low, 34; precipitation, .24 in. Sunday: high, 35; low, 26; precipitation, .04 in.

WARREN COUNTY

An automobile accident on Rt. 49 in Lewisville, Pa., took the life of a 22-year-old Clarendon man yesterday. Ivan James (Jim) Bailey, 19 S. Main st., was pronounced dead at Charles Cole Memorial Hospital in Coudersport from injuries suffered early yesterday morning.

Warren received a warning of things to come in the way of snow yesterday as one inch fell on the city, Erie, Jamestown and Buffalo, N.Y., and northeastern Ohio didn't fare as well and received a heavy blanket.

Alva B. Fuller stirred up more pre-election excitement Saturday charging that Republican William Allen is just a "hand-picked rubber stamp" for Governor Shafer's new tax program. Both are candidates for the 65th District seat in the General Assembly. The spotlight is on the voters tomorrow.

The Allegheny River has been tamed. And the adjustments to recreational problems are far easier than the adjustments to flooding, according to officials of the Corps of Engineers who spoke to a large group in Tionesta Saturday.

THE NATION

Optimism was expressed by both sides after top bargainers spent over 10 hours yesterday in a negotiating session between the United Auto Workers and Chrysler Corp.

The United States is in for one of its busiest weeks in space history. It all started yesterday when a unique "pinball" satellite was rocketed into orbit.

THE WORLD

The Yemeni army took over President Abdullah al-Sallal's republican government in a post midnight coup yesterday, clearing the way for settlement of the nation's five-year-old civil war.

B52 bombers unloaded 150,000 pounds of bombs on suspected positions of a shattered Viet Cong force outside Loc Ninh.

Pope Paul VI is reported in "Satisfactory" condition after undergoing surgery, his doctors report.

SPORTS

Down 6-0 at intermission, Warren Area High School staged a second half comeback to roll over Bradford on Saturday, 34-6 for its sixth straight victory and a 7-2 mark for the season. Dan O'Neill sparked the Dragon rally with 189 yards and three touchdowns and both Jim Cruickshank and Harry Spackman turned in the first six-pointers of their varsity careers. Page 8.

Underdog Sheffield battled Bradford Central Christian to a 13-13 tie Saturday night, pass interference penalties setting up both Rambler scores. Mike Steffan and Ray Morrison tallied for the Wolverines. Frewsburg power proved to be more than Eisenhower could handle and the Knights took a 27-6 shellacking from the New Yorkers. Dick Hale scored Ike's lone touchdown. Page 9.

Baltimore rallied behind two Johnny Unitas touchdown passes late in the game yesterday to defeat Green Bay, 13-10. Mike Garrett set a Kansas City rushing mark with 192 yards to spark the Chiefs to a 42-18 drubbing of the New York Jets. Page 8.

U.S. Orbits 'Pinball'

By JIM STROTTHMAN
AP Aerospace Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A unique "pinball" satellite named ATS 3, rocketed into a near-perfect orbit yesterday to successfully open one of the busiest weeks in U.S. space history.

"It looks like we've got a very good spacecraft," project officials said as ATS 3, third in a series of Applications Technology Satellites built to demonstrate practical benefits to mankind from space-cruised around earth on its initial orbit.

The experiment-crammed craft thundered away from Cape Kennedy at 6:37 p.m. (EST) yesterday aboard a fiery Atlas-Agena rocket after two previous launch postponements. Its booster propelled the satellite into an orbit "very, very close to that expected," said Robert H. Gray, director of unmanned launch operations for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

After twice whipping around earth in a long elliptical path, ATS 3 was to trigger a space-craft motor sometime before noon Monday to permanently settle in a stationary orbit that would keep the payload 22,300 miles over a spot near the mouth of the Amazon River in South America.

Scheduled to follow it into space during the next four days are a moon-landing Surveyor craft, weather satellite and an unmanned Apollo moonship riding atop America's first 363-foot-tall Saturn 5 super rocket.

Attempts to orbit ATS 3 on Friday and again Saturday were postponed during the final minutes of the rocket countdown, due to problems with equipment around the Atlas-Agena launch pad.

The busy spider-shaped craft contained a color weather camera designed to capture portions of five continents from ATS 3's planned lofty outpost and a unique "pinball" navigation experiment that required the satellite to kick three baseball-sized, shiny steel spheres into space to see if the balls could replace stars as navigational references.

If successful, this type navigation system could be used by manned and unmanned space-craft in unfamiliar places such as a Mars orbit, officials said.

40 Die In London Train Crash

LONDON (AP)—Ten cars of a suburban express train jumped the tracks as it roared through suburban London last night, killing 40 persons and injuring at least 80, officials reported.

A railroad official said many of the dead were believed to be children returning from a weekend in the country.

The 10 coaches of the 12-coach train plowed along the line, sending up a fireworks of sparks and flames.

Rescue workers toiled on until early today under arc lights and in heavy rain to free survivors from the wreckage. Two major operations were performed by surgeons at the scene.

A British Railways spokesman said earlier he thought the final figure would be 33 dead. But more bodies were found and some of the badly injured died in Lewisham Hospital.

The screams of the injured inside the wreckage could be heard above the noise of the crash, people living near the scene at Hither Green in south London reported.

Many of the uninjured or lightly injured passengers crawled away from the wreckage and lay sobbing beside the line. The track there is electrically field with three rails and British Railways said many of the uninjured could have been electrocuted.

Big Decision

The destiny of Warren County for years to come rests largely in the hands of 18,738 electors who are eligible to go to the polls Tuesday and cast two votes toward the election of three county commissioners slated to be chosen.

The importance of a right decision cannot be emphasized too greatly at this period of the century when Warren County's future looks nothing but bright.

It is not a time for negativism, or narrow minded arguments. It is a time for sound decisions and actions that will protect our many resources.

Good planning is a major key to the success of organized growth in Warren County. This has already been proven in many ways—especially in expediting road building in the county.

But its purpose goes far beyond this. Planning is necessary for controlling our growth; to prevent our rolling hills and valleys from turning into a hodgepodge of ugly sights and cluttered facilities.

We must have leadership in promoting facilities around the Kinzua Dam and Allegheny Reservoir which is offering new life blood to Warren County in the form of a great recreational enterprise.

The vital need of adequate airport facilities—such as those to be offered at Bradford-McKean Airport at Mt. Albion—to accommodate our growing industrial plants and the traveling public must be supported. This, with foresight that sometime in the future there will be a facility adjacent to Warren to make travel and commercial shipping more advantageous.

The elderly need to be looked after: improved therapy for the Rouse Home guests and low cost housing for those who need it.

And the children: Hoffman Home is a necessity where foster homes are not the right place or are not available. This home has been allowed to deteriorate beyond standards and must be made into an adequate facility.

And our tax structure could use a re-study to update assessments.

There are big decisions to be made in the Warren County courthouse. It will take men of integrity with a willingness to listen, discuss and act on these decisions. Men who feel that the place in which they live is worth working for for non-selfish reasons.

This is why we strongly urge you to vote for Dr. David K. Rice and James G. Marshall when you go to the polls tomorrow.

We have read the campaign platforms and promises, we have listened, and we have analyzed.

We feel these two men are the most qualified candidates to take over the responsibilities required of a county commissioner.

U.S. Bombers Hit Phuc Yen Air Base, Destroy Two Migs

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force fighter-bombers again attacked North Vietnam's biggest air base at Phuc Yen yesterday and pilots reported destroying a hangar and damaging at least two Migs on the ground.

The airbase, 18 miles northwest of Hanoi, once was on the Pentagon's list of forbidden targets. It was first hit Oct. 24 and has been attacked several times since.

In the latest strikes, pilots reported their bombs left a huge crater in the center of the runway and caused extensive damage to revetments for parking planes and on a taxiway. Four anti-aircraft sites around the field were silenced, pilots said.

U.S. headquarters in Saigon reported an Air Force F105 Thunderchief went down in the raids, bringing announced American losses over the North to 726 planes. The pilot was rescued. Headquarters reported. The North Vietnamese claimed three U.S. planes and a pilotless reconnaissance plane were shot down and that a number of American fliers were captured.

At the same time, U.S. B52 bombers unloaded 150,000 pounds of bombs on suspected positions of a shattered Viet Cong division five miles from Loc Ninh near the Cambodian border.

In six days of fierce fighting around Loc Ninh, a rubber plantation village, one of the Viet Cong's best outposts, the 9th Division, was nearly destroyed, said the commander of U.S. forces there. He called it "one of the most significant battles of the war."

He estimated the enemy division's strength at between 11,000 and 13,000 men and said it was heavily seeded with North Vietnamese regulars.

In other raids over North Vietnam yesterday, U.S. Marine planes rained from the air on suspected Viet Cong positions in the northwest of Hanoi, where a railroad yard on the main line to Communist China was hit.

Other pilots hammered a supply center 28 miles west of Hanoi.

In South Vietnam, B52 bombers staged three raids early today. The eight-engine Stratofortress hit first at suspected enemy troop concentrations and fortifications 27 miles west of Tam Ky, a provincial capital on the South China Sea coast 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

The bombers returned later for two raids on suspected enemy troops and fortifications about 10 miles farther north along the coast near An Hoa.

In addition to yesterday's B52 raids near Loc Ninh, smaller jets pounded a North Vietnamese force dug in against U.S. troops in the central highlands, the possible arena for the war's major fighting.

The bombing attacks were carried out although ground action had slackened in Loc Ninh and the central highlands, the

Yemeni Army Seizes Nation

SANAA, Yemen (AP) — Without firing a shot, the army took over the republican government of President Abdullah al-Sallal yesterday while he was on his way to Moscow. The post-midnight coup appeared to clear the way for settlement of Yemen's five-year-old civil war.

A communique of the new regime said it will seek "sounder bonds" with all Arab states, headed by Egypt. This indicated the new rulers wanted to be less dependent on the Egyptians and friends on an equal basis with all Arab nations, including neighboring Saudi Arabia.

Yemen is a tiny desert nation on the southwestern tip of the Arabian Peninsula.

Despite a curfew, crowds of civilians, army troops and sword-waving tribesmen surged into the streets of this capital to cheer the new regime of men who recently returned from Cairo where they had been kept in exile by the Egyptians at Sallal's request.

One of them, Judge Abdel Rahman Irtani, was named provisional chief of state until a new cabinet is formed.

A later decree said Judge Irtani, former Premier Ahmed Mohammad Noaman and Muhammad Ali Osman had been named as members of a new presidential council. Another decree named Mohsin Elalany, a former foreign minister and Yemeni representative at the United Nations, to be premier.

Life went on as usual in Sana'a, though there was a noticeable lack of traffic because of a curfew. Sana'a radio said cables had been received from all parts of the country backing the coup.

Sallal was last reported in Baghdad, Iraq, a stopover on his way to Moscow to attend the 50th anniversary celebrations of Russia's Bolshevik Revolution.

Egypt's Middle East News agency reported that Sallal heard the news of the coup in a government house in Baghdad, at first decided to go on to Moscow, then later canceled the trip. The agency gave no indication of what Sallal's next move might be.

The coup was announced yesterday morning by Col. Ahmed al-Rohoumi, who was acting interior minister in the Sallal regime.

"Not a single bullet was shot," he said. "The army takeover of power has been a bloodless undertaking and we count on the people's alertness to avert any confusion or sabotage."

Rohoumi said all foreigners in Sana'a were safe and that measures were taken to assure their future safety.

In a communique issued six hours later, the new government said its supreme objectives is to "correct the situation" in Yemen.

"The army takeover aims at establishing sounder bonds with sister Arab states, with the U.A.R., Egypt, at their head."

The Yemeni army and people can never deny or forget the invaluable sacrifices the U.A.R. has rendered to the Yemeni republic and its revolution."

Yet the appointment of Irtani as provisional chief of state indicated the new regime is not working for Egypt but supports withdrawal of Egyptian troops from Yemen, a move which fits well in with Egyptian interests.

Irtani had been held a prisoner by the Egyptians for a year.

Clarendon Man Dies in Crash

Ivan James (Jim) Bailey, 22, S. Main st., Clarendon died in Charles Cole Memorial Hospital in Coudersport early yesterday from injuries suffered in a motor vehicle accident two hours earlier.

State police at Coudersport said the accident occurred on Rt. 49 in the borough of Lewisville when the car Bailey was driving skidded on wet pavement on a sharp right turn, ran into a field and overturned.

Bailey's wife, Judith, and another passenger in the car, Sheryl Crappio, 20, Park st., Warren, were treated for injuries at the hospital and released. A third passenger, Bailey's twin brother, Irvin, was not injured.

They were enroute to visit friends in New Albany and Norristown when the mishap occurred.

Bailey was born June 9, 1945 at Sayre, Pa., and lived in the area 14 years. He was employed as a welder at Pennsylvania Furnace & Iron Co. He graduated from Warren Area High School in 1963 and attended Warren Campus of Edinboro State College for two years. He was a member of the Stoneyham Methodist Church.

Surviving are his wife; his parents, Richard D. and Helen Bailey, R.D. 1, Clarendon; his grandmother, Mrs. Fredericka Bailey, New Albany; eleven brothers and sisters, Robert Bailey, California, Richard Bailey Jr., Norristown, Mrs. Donald (Carol) Dibble, E. Smithfield, Mrs. Kenneth (Margaret) Fowler, Monroeton, Mrs. James (Diane) Elvidge, Bentley Creek, Mrs. Jack (Susan) Worthington, Warren, Thomas Bailey, Clarendon and Irvin, John, Joyce and Raymond Bailey, Clarendon R.D.

Friends may call at the Peterson-Blick Funeral Home today from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Services will be held there at 2 p.m. tomorrow. The Rev. Samuel Dunning, pastor of the Stoneyham Methodist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Pine Grove Cemetery at Russell.

Warren Escapes Area's Heavy Weekend Snowfall

Warren Borough escaped with one inch of snow — just enough to put a soft covering over lawns and trees and a cold quiet feeling in the air — while farther north the rest of the tri-state area was digging out from the first major snowstorm of an early winter yesterday. Erie County and the city of Erie bore the brunt of the snowfall for Northwestern Pennsylvania. The storm spread up to 10 inches of snow in Erie and vicinity and slowed traffic to a tire-spinning crawl.

The heavy snow bogged down communities in a 200-mile long and 25-mile wide belt along the lake between the suburbs of Cleveland, O., and the outskirts of Buffalo, N.Y.

In New York State, where snow accumulations reached 16-inch depths, hazardous driving warnings were in effect yesterday in several counties, including Erie, Chautauque, Cattaraugus, and Wyoming, all in the western part of the state.

Many motorists were reported stranded early yesterday in the Dunkirk-Fredonia area, off Lake Erie, and police worked to get scores of persons housed, as hotels and motels were quickly filled.

In Chautauque County, sheriff's deputies said a large number of tractor-trailers bogged down temporarily.

Clinkering and plowing crews labored to keep Erie's streets and highways open. Police said no roads were closed by snow, but said driving was difficult. They said they had no reports of serious traffic crashes and no major traffic tieups were noticed.

OBITUARIES

Frank Spilka

Frank Spilka, 76, 315 E. Third st., Erie, died yesterday, Nov. 5, 1967, in Hamot Hospital in Erie after six months' illness. He was a former Ludlow resident, born Aug. 12, 1891, in Russia. He was formerly employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad in Erie and at the time of his retirement was employed at the Bucyrus Erie plant. He was a member of St. Michael's Catholic Church in Sheffield.

Surviving are two sons, George W. Spilka and Peter Spilka, both of Ludlow, a daughter, Mrs. Robert (Bernice) Kirkpatrick, Erie; four grandchildren and an uncle, Daniel Spilka, Erie. Services will be held Thursday at 9 a.m. at St. Michael's Church with the Rev. Resetar of St. Peter and Paul's Church of Erie officiating. Burial will be in St. Michael's Cemetery at Sheffield. Calling hours will begin Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Borden Funeral Home in Sheffield.

Adolph Benson

Word is received by Mrs. Lawrence Carlson, 207 Walnut st., of the death of her uncle, Adolph Benson, age 87, in Grant's Pass, Oregon. His sudden passing was due to a coronary attack.

Adolph Benson was for many years superintendent of the Crescent Furniture Company in Warren. He was a former member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

He was preceded in death by his wife Esther (Anderson) Benson, many years ago.

Mr. Benson is survived by two children, Mrs. Viola Ehrenstrom, Portland, Oregon and Harold Benson, Grant's Pass, Oregon.

Funeral services in memory of Mr. Benson will be held today, in Portland, Oregon.

Harold A. Nero

Harold A. Nero, 60, 9709 S. Highland ave., Cleveland, Ohio, a former resident of Warren, died Saturday, Nov. 4, 1967, at 5 p.m. at St. Alexis Hospital in Cleveland.

He was born in Warren, June 20, 1907, and attended Warren schools until graduating from Warren High School in 1925. He had been a resident of Cleveland since 1929. He was the son of the late Alfred and Mathilda Thoreson Nero.

Survivors include his wife, Carolyn; three sons, Harold, Richard and Robert and four grandchildren, all of Cleveland. Also two brothers, Lester E. Nero and Wendell N. Nero, Warren; two sisters, Mrs. Lucille Durlin, Youngsville and Mrs. Ethel Murphy, Hopkins, Minn. and several nieces, nephews and cousins.

Funeral services will be held at St. Theresa's Church in Cleveland. Requiem Mass will be said there tomorrow morning. Burial will follow in Cleveland.

Many Die as Typhoon Emma Hits Philippines

BY TONY ESCODA

MANILA (AP) — Nearly 70 persons were reported dead or missing after typhoon Emma cut a wide swath of destruction across the Philippines Saturday. Unofficial reports said 44 of the victims were aboard five small Filipino vessels caught in rough seas churned by Emma's 125-mile-per-hour center winds. The fate of the ships was not known.

The Philippine News Service said 23 persons were killed when a bus plunged into a typhoon-swollen river on the central Philippine island of Samar. A woman was reported crushed to death by a tree uprooted when Emma's fierce gusts swept Pampanga Province north of Manila.

Communications with many of the stricken areas were out, making an official count of deaths or damage impossible. There were fears the casualty list would mount once communication lines were restored.

Initial estimates of damage ran as high as $5 million.

The Manila region got its worst storm buffeting of the year as Emma passed within 20 miles.

There were no immediate reports of death in the capital area, but damage was extensive. Light frame houses were blown down, trees uprooted and power lines and big neon signs felled.

Many districts in the city and suburbs were blacked out for more than 12 hours, as the Manila Electric Company cut off power to avoid danger from torn high tension wires.

Two major centers for reception and transmission of international news and messages were knocked out as a result of generator failure.

Cop Captures Goat; Then Bags Monkey

NEW YORK (AP) — Patrolman Patrick O'Connor, fresh from his capture of the goat of Wall Street bagged a monkey in Chelsea yesterday.

Only last Friday the 6-foot-five, 260-pound policeman caught a stray goat in front of the New York Stock Exchange after a chase down the East River Drive.

Yesterday he was one of six police officers who responded to a telephoned report of a monkey on the fourth-floor terrace of an apartment in the Chelsea district of Manhattan.

O'Connor followed the monkey down to the ground, over a seven-foot fence, and into an apartment in the next building. He clapped the ape into a cloth sack and sent him to the ASPCA shelter.

Optimism Expressed After UAW-Chrysler Talks Sunday

By KIT KINCADE

Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Top bar-gainers for both sides expressed optimism after a 10½-hour negotiating session between the United Auto Workers and Chrysler Corp. broke up last night.

"I must report we made some progress today but there is still very much work to be done if we are to avoid a strike on Nov. 8," said UAW President Walter P. Reuther.

Negotiations were to resume this morning.

He said the thorniest issues in the talks remain wage parity between American and Canadian workers, skilled trades salaries and pensions.

Asked whether he was as optimistic yesterday about a strike being averted by the Wednesday deadline as he was Saturday, Reuther said "I'm just by nature optimistic," adding, "I think there is still adequate time though there is still much work to be done."

"We can make it by the deadline if we keep working at it," Leary said.

Negotiators met yesterday afternoon and evening, breaking up shortly before 9 p.m. Leary and Reuther, with their top aides were at the main bargaining tables and eight subcommittees met separately, reporting on their progress to the top bargainers from time to time.

The union represents 95,000 hourly rated workers and 8,000 salaried personnel at Chrysler in the United States. Across the border at Chrysler Canada Ltd., there are 11,900 production workers and 600 salaried workers under UAW jurisdiction.

UAW Local 444 in Windsor, Ont., representing 10,000 production workers, took a strike vote yesterday, and the union reported, the vote was 2,926 to 98 in favor of a strike, with six ballots void. The Chrysler Canada contract expires Nov. 15.

Canadian auto workers make about 40 cents an hour less than the $3.41 average hourly straight time wage in the United States under the old contract.

Ford workers won roughly $1 an hour more in wages and fringe benefits above the previous Big Three hourly average of $4.70.

Report 10 Accidents In Corry Area

Officers of the Corry state police barracks, were out investigating three automobile accidents late last night after a bundle of seven mishaps from Saturday through yesterday afternoon.

Kane State Police reported a "quiet" weekend except for a couple of minor collisions. There were a total of three accidents in the Tionesta area, but were said by police to be slight "bumpings."

Corry police said, William George Hines, 23, 745 W. 24th st., Erie, suffered a broken finger when his car struck an auto operated by Russell E. White 36, RD 2, Corry, on Rte. 426 in Spring Creek twp. Saturday.

According to the authorities White had pulled out of a driveway when he was struck from behind. There was a total of $750 in damages reported.

Also Saturday, police said, an unidentified truck - tractor clipped a vehicle driven by Howard Munser, 56, RD 4, Union City as Munser was proceeding through an intersection in Watsburg Borough, Erie County. Munser's car was reportedly struck by the truck in the front by the truck's rear wheels. Damage to the Munser auto was listed at $2,000.

Another $2,000 mishap was investigated yesterday by the Corry State Police and involved Dorothy Crouch, 36, 616 Blissett st., Oil City and Jerome Rekiel 43, 220 Struthers st., Lowellsville, O.

Police reported that the Crouch vehicle was stopped on Rt 8 in the northbound lane, and that Rekiel, also traveling in the north lane, rounded a bend, and struck the Crouch auto in the rear.

One of yesterday's late accidents in Corry reportedly did involve injuries.

Water

Buss said that the future of the river was as much a puzzle to him as to anyone in the audience, and that he was concerned. Two times during the past summer, he said, he had sent teams of biologists to the river to gather required information, but that both times these teams had found the river high and muddy. He assured his listeners, however, that he intended to learn the answer to the question at the earliest possible moment and that his department would do everything possible to perpetuate the fine warmwater fishing the river has been noted for in the past.

Many other questions of lesser widespread interest were presented to the panel and answered by various officials before the meeting was adjourned.

Surprising to most was the various interests represented by those attending what many had considered would be nothing more than a "fisherman's beefing session." Among those noticed were county commissioners from Forest and Venango counties; the mayor of Franklin; the Tidoute Chamber of Commerce; William Allen, Tidoute candidate for the General Assembly; Tionesta Lion's Club, Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsman's Clubs (boating division), Oil City Chamber of Commerce, and Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau (Bob Dukes) and the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries.

Those attending the meeting seemed to consider it as worthwhile and a step forward in Corps-public relations.

Snow

Just over the Pennsylvania line in northeastern Ohio, 14 to 16 inches of wet snow were reported by Sgt. E. W. Wilson of the Ashtabula post of the State Highway patrol.

Conneaut, O. police reported nearly a foot of snow. Main thoroughfares were being kept open, but "the side streets are plugged," police said. Traffic on Route 1-90 was reduced to one lane in each direction.

A power failure hit Millcreek, a suburb of Erie, at the height of the storm, but electricity was restored in about an hour.

The sound of shovels wasn't heard on Warren's streets yesterday, however local weatherman Gil Reuter said that there will undoubtedly be more snow today and it will probably "build up."

Forecasts predicted occasional snow flurries and 30 degree temperatures for Warren and Erie counties. The New York State Weather Bureau said some flurries would continue into today, although fair or partly cloudy weather would be the rule in most sections. Temperatures were expected to climb to the mid-40s today.

Out-of-Towners Involved In Mishaps

Two Erie motorists and a driver from out-of-state were involved in automobile accidents on county highways this past weekend. There were no injuries in either mishap.

Reports from the Warren State Police, who investigated the first collision at 9:50 Saturday morning, said that Alberta Rachael Studd, 42, Box 101, Amherst, O., was traveling east on route 957 in Sugar Grove Twp. and in the process of making a left turn into the Pittsburgher Inn when her car was struck by an auto driven by W. B. Washabaugh III, 36, 4820 Wolf rd., Erie, who was attempting to pass her.

Total damage was set at $200.

At 11:50 yesterday morning on Route 6 and the intersection of Route 958 in Pittsfield Twp. State Police said Wade S. Henry, 57, Thatcher Lane, Youngsville, was traveling south on Rt. 958, stopped for a stop sign, then pulled out and struck a vehicle driven by Agnes Chimenti, 72, 3816 Raspberry st., Erie.

According to the authorities, Henry pulled out as the Chimenti car was approaching. Police said she swerved over to the south berm to miss collision, but could not avoid the Henry car which struck her auto in the left front door. There was $160 in damages.

Train

Many of the train dead, British Railways said, were believed to be children returning home to London from a weekend in the country.

Mrs. Joan Mowbray was walking under a railway bridge at the time, "I heard a train approaching," she said. "There was an awful crash and the ground shook." She ran into the freight yard and "I saw a carriage had been ripped open and people were lying on the grass. They had been thrown out of the train. Then I heard people crying and screaming."

Mrs. Mowbray had to be taken to a hospital suffering from shock.

There was no immediate indication as to the cause of the crash which happened about a mile from another crash Dec. 4, 1957, in which 90 were killed and 175 injured. At that time an express plowed into the rear of a local train in heavy fog.

The Sunday train runs local from Hastings to Tunbridge Wells about 45 miles southeast of London and is nonstop from there into Waterloo Station, London. Its final destination is Charing Cross Station across the Thames from Waterloo.

The London fire brigade sent 25 trucks with 120 firemen to help extricate the dead and injured from the wreckage.

War

over the North yesterday. It claimed three planes were shot down in a raid on Vinh Phu province northwest of Hanoi and a "number of air pirates who bailed out" were captured. The dispatch also said a drone reconnaissance plane was shot down over Hanoi.

Snow Closes Area Roads

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. — Highway crews labored throughout the night in Chautauque County to keep roads open as the first major snow storm of the season fell upon the county.

The storm, which came in from Lake Erie early Saturday night, dumped as much as 21 inches of snow in some parts of the county. The area between Lake Erie and the snow ridge at Mayville and Cassadaga bore the main thrust of the storm.

In the Jamestown area, the snow fell ranged in depth from four to eight inches. City street crews were attempting to keep the streets open but the snow continued to fall. Several minor accidents were reported to police headquarters, apparently due to the slippery conditions of the streets.

Saturday night saw the Thruway and Rt. 5 closed temporarily when two tractor trailers jackknifed across the highway. Otherwise, state, county and town highway equipment have been able to keep most highways open and either cleared or salted. State and county police agencies reported that many roads remained slippery and visibility was generally poor throughout the entire county.

Police Probe

Hit and Run

Charles D. Dyson, 63, 1901 Pleasant rd., Warren was the victim of a hit-and-run automobile accident on Route 337, Watson Twp., 15 miles south of Warren at 5:20 yesterday evening.

Police said Dyson and his wife Freda, 65, were traveling south on Rt 337 when another vehicle overtook and passed them. In the process of passing, the unknown motorist reportedly sideswiped the Dyson auto, and sped off toward Tidoute. There were no injuries.

The identity of the second party are still being investigated by the Warren State Police.

Election

The other is Carl B. Stokes, the Democratic nominee for mayor of Cleveland. His chances are favorable since Democrats have consistently won elections in Cleveland for 25 years.

The city's major newspapers, the Cleveland Plain Dealer and the Cleveland Press, are supporting him.

Stokes says that if he doesn't win it will be because his Republican opponent is white. In this way, he himself brought race into the campaign.

His opponent is Seth Taft, grandson of President William Howard Taft and a first cousin of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft. Democrats are favored for governor in Kentucky and Mississippi, states their party long has controlled.

But one of the uncertainties in all the elections is the extent to which dissatisfactions among voters over national and international questions may spill over into local contests.

Henry Ward, the Democrats nominee for governor of Kentucky, has not sought campaigning help from national Democratic figures. On the other hand, Republican Louie B. Nunn has brought in Gov. Ronald Reagan of California and Sen. John G. Tower of Texas among others, to speak in his behalf.

By all appearances, in short, Ward has thought he had nothing to gain by exhibiting ties with the National Democratic party of President Johnson while Nunn has believed votes could be won through associations with conservative Republicans.

Israeli and Jordanian Forces Exchange Fire

By ED BLANCHE
Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Israeli and Jordanian forces exchanged artillery and small arms fire across the River Jordan before dawn yesterday. Israel said 10 shells hit a kibbutz—communal farm—and Jordan charged the Israeli guns aimed at civilian homes.

The duel broke out after saboteurs blew up a kibbutz building 3-4 miles from the river on the Israeli side. An Israeli Army spokesman said the Jordanians opened artillery fire to cover saboteurs trying to get back across the river.

It was the third border clash in three weeks along the Israel-Jordanian cease-fire line.

In Amman, a Jordanian spokesman said the Israelis started the two-hour duel by opening fire on homes in the Ghor area in northern Jordan, destroying four houses and wounding a soldier.

He said two Israeli military jeeps carrying 105-mm guns were destroyed and that there were many Israeli casualties. An Israeli spokesman in Tel Aviv said one civilian was wounded by the shells that fell on Kibbutz Majaz Hayim, two miles from the River Jordan.

King Hussein to State 'Reasonable' Position

By WILLIAM N. OATES
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—King Hussein of Jordan said yesterday he would state a "reasonable" Arab position to U.S. officials this week. He indicated the Arabs were willing to recognize Israel's right to exist and use the Suez Canal and the Strait of Tiran if they got the right terms in settlement of last June's Arab-Israeli war.

The king was televised live from a New York studio on the Columbia Broadcasting System's "Face the Nation," the day before going to Washington to meet Secretary of State Dean Rusk today and President Johnson Wednesday.

Under questioning, he said that in talking with those two, "I am going to expose the Arab position as it stands now. I think it is a reasonable one and represents a very, very tremendous change from earlier positions." Since the 1948 war and the 1949 armistice that followed Israel's creation, Arab countries generally have refused to recognize Israel and have claimed they are still at war with her and entitled to exercise belligerents' rights. Under that claim, Egypt has declared Israeli ships barred from the Suez Canal and the Strait of Tiran. But Hussein said that by agreement reached at the Khartoum conference in September, the Arab leaders now were offering "to recognize the right of all to live in peace and security" in the Middle East. And when asked if that meant "all states," he replied: "If we manage to find the right formula, then it would mean all states." He also was asked if he thought President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt would grant Israel the right to use the canal and the strait, and he said: "I think if the right conditions were met, yes."

Regarding Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol's recent public offer to talk with him in Amman in Jerusalem, Hussein said that "it would make sense" except for the fact that Israel still occupied parts of Egypt, Jordan and Syria, and so could "dictate the conditions" for peace.

He said Israeli withdrawal was a necessary prerequisite to any direct Arab-Israeli talks.

Weinstein Capture in NYC; Charged in Torture-Slaying

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Stephen Z. Weinstein, captured in what police said was "a one-in-a-million coincidence," was charged yesterday with homicide in the torture-slaying of a University of Pennsylvania freshman.

The 29-year-old tobaccoist was brought back to Philadelphia from New York Saturday night and held without bail at a post-midnight hearing in the death of John W. Green III, 18, son of a Des Moines, Iowa, doctor.

Weinstein was handcuffed, a pipe clenched in his teeth. Green disappeared from "his campus dormitory OX 22, telling friends he was going to buy a pipe. His body was found Oct. 31 in a trunk floating in the Delaware River near a colonial-style complex that includes Weinstein's tobacco shop.

Weinstein also is a partner in a tobacco shop on the Penn campus.

Weinstein, accused of drug-dealing, beating and strangling Green, disappeared after Green's body was found. A Philadelphia police warrant charged him with murder, and another by the Federal Bureau of Investigation charged him with legal flight to avoid prosecution. Shortly after Weinstein was arrested in New York, a minister conducting a memorial service for Green in Des Moines, said "We bow in shame and penitence" for the wanton deeds of some of God's creatures.

Green's body had been cremated in Philadelphia. Told of Weinstein's capture, Green's father, Dr. John W. Green Jr., a pathologist, said: "My only feeling is the sooner it (his son's death) gets out of the papers, the sooner I can stop hiding them from the children." The Greens have three other sons and two daughters, all at home and all younger than John.

Weinstein was arrested after he was spotted in a theater ticket office by a Philadelphia ticket broker, Eddie Sherman, 27, who said he was in New York to see a show.

Sherman, recalling Weinstein tried to buy theater tickets from him a week ago, said he recognized the tobaccoist mainly because he was smoking a pipe. After his arrest Weinstein was booked in New York on a federal fugitive warrant. Later, at a brief arraignment, he waived extradition.

Three boys who told police they helped Weinstein stuff Green's body in the trunk and throw it in the river have been charged with being accessories after the fact of murder.

Sherman said he thought Weinstein recognized him, because he smiled. He said he left the ticket agency with Weinstein following, and both walked toward Broadway. Sherman said he notified a patrolman who was directing traffic and pointed out Weinstein to him.

"Are you sure," the policeman said, "Yes," replied Sherman. Police said Weinstein began running, but Patrolman Neil T. Ridge grabbed him after a short chase.

Philadelphia Dist. Atty. Arlen Specter brought Weinstein back from New York. Specter denied

37 Die In Plane Crash

HASLEMERE, England (AP)

A British actress who was expecting a baby was identified Sunday as one of 37 persons killed in the crash of an Iberia Airlines Caravelle jet Saturday night.

She was June Thorburn, 36, a leading player in many British movies and TV shows. She also had appeared in Hollywood films. Her name appeared on a passenger list issued in Madrid and her London agent, Al Parson, confirmed she had perished. She was expecting her fourth child in four months.

The Madrid passenger list gave no nationalities or home addresses but Ignacio Vallespar, London manager of Iberia, said there were 25 British passengers aboard, two Spaniards, two Americans and an Australian. The seven-member Spanish crew included two stewardesses.

An Iberia spokesman in London said the two Americans were W.N. Perkins of Tulsa, Tex., and Mr. Mencl, whose trip originated in Decatur, Ill. The "little black box"—the air flight recorder—which could provide the answer to the crash was missing. Investigators from Britain and Spain joined 100 police and soldiers in the search for it.

The plane plummeted from 14,000 feet into a rural Sussex hillside.

"They must have died instantaneously," a police officer said.

The twin-engine jet was on its final approach to London from Malaga, Spain, eight minutes from touchdown when it gouged into the 900-foot hill at all-male pair of devastation 600 feet up. Salvage work was hindered by drenching rain clouthing under growth and tangles of Sunday sightseers.

Calm Returns To Racially Torn City

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)

A Name of Guard force of more than 1,000 was reduced to almost half yesterday as calm returned to Winston-Salem after three nights of racial violence in this city of 150,000.

Col. Jack P. Simpson, commanding officer of the Guard, said two rifle units of 450 men had withdrawn. Simpson said the remaining troops would continue to patrol the city, but would not close the downtown area as in the previous two nights.

At a Sunday news conference, a representative of the office of Mayor M.C. Be to said to curfew would be imposed Sunday night, but "the situation is our most serious seconds. We have to."

The three nights of violence resulted in more than 50 men or injuries, more than 100 arrests, and some $350,000 damages to property and looting.

Arrest 12 In Drug Raid

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)

Twelve men including several college students were arrested early yesterday when State and local police staged a narcotics raid on a apartment here.

Leon Phpps, 15, who rented the third-floor apartment, was charged with possession of marijuana. A small quantity of the drug was seized during the raid. Phpps was reported to be a University of Buffalo student. The other eleven arrested were all charged with disorderly conduct.

A Good Pattern

While Congress struggles over a code of ethics for senators and representatives, it might consider a leading U.S. corporation's statement of some of its "responsibilities to the public." The company recognizes that its freedom to do business in a community or a country depends, ultimately, on public sanction.

Accordingly, in pursuing its objectives of long-term growth, it seeks to conduct its business in a manner that contributes to the social health and economic progress of the society of which it is a part. Among its most fundamental policies are: The provision of good products and services at fair prices. The conservation of natural resources, including air, water, forests, and wildlife, as well as energy resources. Cooperation with governments in economic and social development projects. Ethical behavior. Recognition and support of the cultural traditions and interests of host countries and the aspirations of their people. Initiative in helping solve community problems. Acceptance of responsibilities affecting the rights, dignity, health, safety, and opportunities of employees. Fostering better communication—and better understanding—among people locally, nationally, and internationally. Quite a list to live by!

Smile Remains Plastered

BANGKOK, Thailand—This country smiles all the time. There are 33,000,000 Orientals, and they must be on happy pills. Most of the land is flat and appears to be under six inches of water. They raise rice, and they live on canals called klongs. Outside the city, there are more sampans than cars. The school bus has a bow and a stern.

Bishop

The east side of the Chao Phya River is a broad, crooked stream which runs down the center of Greater Bangkok to the sea. Carsmen pause in the swing of their sweep bars to press the palms of their hands together under their chins, bow, smile to strangers, and murmur: "So Wat Dee" which is "My greetings to you."

The east side of the Chao Phya is ultra-modern, with big highways, tall office buildings, billboards, dense traffic and a weird taxi which, under analysis, turns out to be a motorcycle with an open barouche behind it. Some of the pretty girls with creamy almond skin and sparkling shoe-button eyes have gone western, with shoulder-length bobs and mini skirts. The boys wear their jet hair high up front and plastered down the sides with a pound of pomade.

The men and women look Chinese to me, but they represent such stupid interpretations of features. The men walk with their feet splayed outward, their belt buckles sagging, and the jackets gapping. There are beautiful Buddhist temples all over the city, and the monks wear orange saris.

The west bank of the Chao Phya is as different as one brother is from another. This, in a way, is Old Bangkok. The houses are ancient, rickety, unpainted and stand out of the water on stilts. They lean with fatigue on the banks of klongs and permit themselves to be caressed by the orange and blue wildflowers of the jungle around them.

boat ferries, sell vegetables from house to house out of a boat, climb scaffolding and carry bricks, help their mothers to bathe nude in the klongs, and run the rickety houses. Little boys with soubowm haircuts and big grins run the errands, feed the dog, air the rooms and study their schoolwork. Adolescent girls are shy, wear white midday blouses and navy blue pleated skirts, and giggle.

Thailand means "Free Land." The place used to be called Siam, and when I think of it, I do not recall "The King and I" but rather, I see great logs of oakwood being carried by elephants, and wild rhesus monkeys swinging from tree to tree.

This country is at a historical crossroads. It is the only one in Asia which has never been enslaved by another nation. Behind the smile is an enormous independence. From the king down to the most insufferable beggar Thais want nothing from anyone else except an echoing smile.

And yet, they are in danger. They listen to Radio Peking every day. They hear it every day. The people do not want to believe it, but now they don't know what is truth.

They know that this is a liberty town for G.I.s. Above all, they know that, on the Communist calendar, they are next.

Peking has told them that, win or lose in Vietnam, Thailand and Cambodia will be the next battleground. Thailand has a fair army and a pretty good air force. But they cannot defeat 700,000,000 Chinese waiting at the upland back door.

It required nerve to choose a faraway friend like America. They smile at me politely and they say that my country can pull out of Asia at any time. They read aloud to me statements by Senators and Representatives, reprinted in all the big wire service papers of the East, that the U.S. should abandon these small countries.

In Thailand, they maximize their own fights with the Reds. But they have only about 3,000 Communist guerrillas in the upland, and about 300 south of Bangkok.

The Siamese listen to all sides, and the smile remains plastered on their kissers. They think all Americans look alike...

Conversational Counselling And Compost

By Bernice W. Wiegert, County Agent

I just glanced up on my book shelves and decided it was time to do some housecleaning. Catalogues, Agricultural Commission reports, census books and references long out of date, are leaning in various directions and appear ready to fall out should a jet plane fly low and break the sound barrier.

Here's an interesting thing concerning the increase of Federal programs. In 1965 the catalogue of "Federal Programs for Individual and Community Improvement" was slightly less than one inch thick. By 1967 the description of the Federal Government's domestic programs to assist the American people in furthering their social and economic progress is all of two inches thick. Now this must tell you something, but I'm not sure what. Perhaps it only tells you I haven't cleaned my shelf for two years. I wonder if accomplishments have doubled along with the size of the catalogue?

I just read in the paper about the Poison death of 7 children in Florida from putting an insecticide called Parathion into their food. This is the same material that was mixed in the flour by accident and caused the mass poisoning in Mexico a short time ago. 62 cases of pesticide poisonings of people, domestic animals, fish and wild life, were documented by the Plant Pest Control Division of the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture during the three year period of 1963-1966. Parathion was involved in about 32 per cent of these reported incidents.

Does this mean that this particular material should be banned from the market? I don't believe so—there are many things intended for good purposes that can be dangerous to people, livestock and pets. Electricity, aspirin, gas, cleaning fluids all have taken lives too, and no one is calling for the elimination of any of these. It seems to me that proper handling of pesticides is a matter of common sense. "READ THE LABEL" is the most important rule of all. Of course, children can't read so its got to be kept out of their hands entirely.

Without pesticides, production of livestock would soon drop about 25 per cent and production of crops about 30 per cent. Food prices would go up as much as half again. The food would be of poor quality and some crops could not be produced at all, if pesticides were eliminated.

Farmers are not the only users. Chemicals protect forest resources and prevent the spread of human diseases carried by mosquitos and other insects. Many materials are purchased for home and garden insect control. We get calls nearly every day from someone wondering how to get rid of household insects. Other people have problems with grubs, wasps, hornets, bees and "bugs in general" outside their homes. Our recommendations are prepared by Specialists from Penn State University and if followed properly will kill the insects and not you.

On looking this over I find I've discussed Pests and Poisons, but not Politicians. Anyway, don't forget to vote next Tuesday.

'Gone With The Wind' For Moderns

WASHINGTON—The next issue of "Gone With the Wind" will contain significant changes. These are being made with an eye to giving this now sadly dated epic more relevance for the modern American audience.

For one thing, the title will be changed. The re-issue will be called "Gone With the Draft."

Scarlett's character remains much the same. As the film opens, she is found sitting on the porch at Tara impatiently listening to the shabbily dressed Tarleton twins (rope sandals on bare feet, blue jeans, etc.) wax ecstatic about peace.

Scarlett cries that she hates their "silly old peace" because it is interfering with the county happening season, what with all the boys being lured off to Richmond to stone Jefferson Davis with magnolia blossoms.

Her callous indifference to the cause actually arises, however, from a selfish infatuation with her next-plantation neighbor, the dreamy Hashishley Wilkes. At the Wilkes' annual light show next day, news arrives that Ho Chi Abe has launched his armies against the South and that President Davis has called upon all the bucks in the county to quit being Nervous Nellies and go to Virginia to stop the spread of aggressive abolitionism.

In a tumultuous scene the boys all gather on the Wilkes lawn, burn their draft cards and shout, "Hell no we won't go." At this moment, Scarlett declares her love to Hashishley. Hashishley crushes her by replying that he is going to marry his cousin, Melody, a folk singer, at that moment serving three years in Atlanta for refusal to pay that share of her Confederate income tax that would support the Dixie war machine.

Scarlett is on the rebound in Atlanta when she meets Rhett Butler, an unprincipled and cynical peace profiteer who is making millions by smuggling fresh graffiti buttons, beads and L.S.D. past the Confederate Forces.

Rhett, sensing that she has no more love for peace than he has, urges her to marry him and move into a swell house uptown so that they can join the Establishment power structure. Scarlett consents but as soon as Rhett's back is turned she is arrested in company with Hashishley on charges of illegal flower-picking at a mammoth love-in.

In a fury, Rhett gets drunk, carries Scarlett up the stairs, kicks down her bedroom door and tells her the truth about Hashishley and his dreamy look; namely, that he is an acid-head. In a violent confrontation, Scarlett accuses Rhett of being over thirty. What's more she says, he is an alcohol-head. At that moment shells begin to fall on Atlanta. General Nguyen Sber Man's main forces are at the gates.

Terrified, Scarlett resolves to return to Tara. She orders her faithful old Mammy to pack the trunks. "I'm through packing trunks for you honkies," says Mammy. She rushes into Peachtree Street crying, "Burn, baby, burn!"

As Scarlett and Rhett flee the fires, they meet thousands of marchers trudging toward the front, their knapsacks packed with daisies for stuffing into the cannon. The spectacle of so much suffering and gallantry at last softens Rhett's hardened heart. Picking a bunch of marigolds, he gives Scarlett directions for getting to Tara and heads for Appomattox so that he can at last do something decent for peace.

Arriving starved at Tara, Scarlett finds it occupied by a group of former Confederate and Yankee soldiers, who have put aside their uniforms for guru robes and are now living in psychedelic communion. Discovering that they have eaten her cupboard bare and haven't worked in the past six months, she orders them from the house at gunpoint and delivers her famous speech, beginning, "Ah ain't nevah gonna be hungry again."

After intermission cigarettes, we see Scarlett in Reconstruction Atlanta.

Her opportunity to assuage it comes when Melody dies of gangrene, resulting from failure to tend to a scratch inflicted by the pin of a "Make Love, Not Reconstruction" button. In an excess of jealousy, Rhett frustrates their union by threatening to cut off Hashishley's acid supply.

"But how will I indulge my masochism without you around to make me suffer?" cries Rhett.

"Frankly, my dear," says Scarlett, "I don't give a damn." The re-issuers are a bit doubtful about this final line. They fear it may sound too prissy for modern audiences.

Still Working on Peace

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Harry S. Truman, now 83, isn't seeing as many people as he once did and doesn't spend time at his much-loved Truman Library any more. But he is alert and he is devoting a great deal of time to his most cherished goal—peace.

On his 84th birthday next May he hopes that his friends and staff will be able to inaugurate the Truman International Center for Peace on Mt. Scopus where Arabs, Jews and all the people of the Near East can come together to work for peace.

The Truman Center will be a four-story building with conference halls, study rooms, a magnificent art collection and space for the addition of a growing library. In addition there will be constructed one of the largest radio towers in that part of the world to broadcast to the Arab and Jewish people on the subject closest to Mr. Truman's heart. It will be called "The Voice of Peace."

Mt. Scopus where the Truman Center is located is part of the Mount of Olives which Christ crossed on his entry into Jerusalem. It overlooks the Garden of Gethsemane where he walked on the day before the Crucifixion, and has great historical significance to all the people of the Near East.

"We must learn to abolish war lest war abolish us," is Harry Truman's thesis in these remaining years of his life.

About ten years ago, when Truman first established his Library I had occasion to talk to him about his great goal. This was in April of 1956, and walking over to a huge globe of the world he pointed to the Suez Canal.

"I am not worried about war between Russia and the United States," he said. "I am worried about war in this part of the world."

He was most prophetic. For six months later, war broke out between the Arabs and Israel and saw the Israelis advancing all the way to the Suez Canal. Discussing the problem of peace in the Near East six months before that war started, Mr. Truman said:

"When I was a boy I studied history. And I remember that back in the days of Christ there were about 60 million people in the Near East. But the Mongols, advancing from North-east Asia, destroyed the irrigation projects on the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers. They have never been rebuilt, so this part of the world can no longer support a dense population. "What will bring peace to the Near East," Truman said, "is cooperation between the Arabs and the Jews. The Jews have the industrial knowhow. The Arabs have the ability to raise bread. If we can rebuild the reclamation projects on the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers, this area can blossom once again as the breadbasket of that part of the world. "If the Arabs can feed the Jews and the Jews can manufacture the industrial goods which the Arabs need, then you will have peace in the Near East."

Mr. Truman went on to outline a plan which he had considered when President, of digging a canal from the Mediterranean to the Dead Sea, taking advantage of the 1,200-foot drop to the lowest sea in the world in order to generate hydroelectric power which could industrialize that part of the world and help bring about Arab-Israeli cooperation.

Mr. Truman is disappointed yet philosophical over the fact that his advice has not been followed. However, he is not giving up. And the Truman center for peace on Mt. Scopus could become, he hopes, a new start toward Arab-Israeli cooperation.

I have visited Mr. Truman many times in Missouri since he left the White House. He has taken me through his library on at least two occasions—a rare privilege to be shown the exhibits of history by the man who made the history. I shall always cherish the memory of these talks.

I also cherish in my files a statement which Mr. Truman gave me, which I have never published, in which he revises the opinion which he once expressed and which Ronald Reagan reminded many million people about last week. The statement reads in part: "In my judgment he is by and large a force for the good of the country. He is sincere, fearless, has the courage of his convictions and hammers away at what he believes is right, however unpopular it may be. He takes the side of the less privileged."

I had been saving Mr. Truman's opinion for my grandchildren but since Mr. Reagan has made an issue of it I now quote it, together with a statement by James Roosevelt, eldest son of the late President Roosevelt, which he gave in a sworn deposition Feb. 20, 1963, when questioned as to whether his father had referred to me as a chronic liar.

Roosevelt replied: "I have heard that a good many times. I was not present when it was supposed to have been said. I had discussed the matter with my father when he was President. He replied to me that if he ever said such a thing—and he didn't remember saying such a thing—it was done in jest."

Referring also to Mr. Truman's famous SOB statement about me, Rep. Roosevelt said: "I have found many times that people in public office, when they have been criticized or something has happened that displeases them, make a quick off-the-cuff comment; and I think Mr. Truman has many times made these quick off-the-cuff comments that he sometimes regretted a little bit later."

"But that isn't the worst of it. After the primaries in March are over, everybody closes up his store and moves on to Wisconsin and no one gives a dang about New Hampshire for another four years."

"Your glory is short-lived," I said. "But it must be good for the tourist business."

"I suppose so," he replied. "But it's the responsibility of it all that gets to you. Do you know we can make or break Richard Nixon? How would you like to live with that?"

"I wouldn't," I admitted. "And this time we have to choose between President Johnson and Bobby Kennedy. If we choose Bobby, the President's going to be furious, and if we choose Mr. Johnson, the rest of the country's going to be mad. There are some times when I wish I lived in Vermont."

"That's a grave responsibility," I said. "You can say that again. Look down this street. Every store has a campaign headquarters in it. Thousands of dollars are being spent to influence our vote. Presidential candidates by the hundreds have been up here shaking hands and smiling for the television cameras. I tell you something, mister, it's no fun to be a political bellwether."

"But I would think you'd feel very important," I said. "Important? I've been polled to death. First Louis Harris, then George Gallup, then Roper and heaven knows how many private pollsters working for each of the candidates. I wouldn't mind if they just asked me which candidate I preferred. But what they keep doing is putting combinations together, such as, 'Who would you prefer: Ronald Reagan and Shirley Temple or Lyndon Johnson and Lawrence Welk?'"

"So when you answer that one, they say 'How about Richard Nixon and Norman Mailer against Bobby Kennedy and Marshall Ky?' There seems to be no end to the combinations the pollsters can think up. You see this piece of wood? I started whittling it in July and I haven't even got it half done because of these damned primary elections."

"But doesn't it make you proud that New Hampshire is in the forefront of American politics and a trend-setter for the nation?"

"Proud my foot. All these carpebaggers come up here and give you the impression how much they are concerned with the people of New Hampshire and the problems of our state. They're covered by Chet Huntley and Walter Cronkite and Mike Wallace and Howard K. Smith.

Save On Taxes Now—VI

(In collaboration with the Research Institute of America)
If you are among America's millions of self-employed ranging from physicians and lawyers to small storekeepers and repairmen, the chances are that you have no special pension fund to protect you in retirement. If so, you should right now seriously consider setting up a self-employed retirement plan under the Keogh Act or H.R. 10 of 1962.

Important liberalizations of the law become effective next year which dramatically boost the tax advantages of these plans to you.

You can now set aside and deduct on your income tax return 10 per cent of your earned income, up to $2,500 each year. In addition to being able to take a tax deduction for up to $2,500 a year, the amounts you set aside earn tax-free income until the funds are distributed to you in your retirement.

To illustrate what this means, say you're in the 50 per cent tax bracket. A tax-free build-up at 5 per cent a year within your self-employed pension fund plan is equal to a 10 per cent build-up outside the fund.

This advantage stands until your pension money is paid to you in retirement and you must pay tax on the distributions.

A key to getting maximum tax benefit is to join or set up your self-employed retirement plan as soon as possible in 1968, and not to delay until late in the year.

Your 1968 tax deduction for up to $2,500 of contributions to your plan will be the same whether you make the contribution on Jan. 2 or on Dec. 31, 1968. But remember, one of the special tax breaks of a qualified plan is that the money you set aside earns tax-free income. Thus, the earlier you make your contribution to your plan next year, the quicker your deductible contribution will start to earn the tax-free income.

The simplest, most practical thing for you to do is to tie in with an already existing self-employed retirement plan. In the weeks immediately ahead, check with a few of the many banks, insurance companies, mutual funds and professional organizations which have established Treasury-approved master or prototype plans. To adopt such a plan, you need just file a one-page form with the local District Director of the Internal Revenue Service.

Your funds can be invested in a wide variety of ways, depending on your own choice. You can buy anything ranging from insurance company annuity, endowment and retirement income policies to mutual fund shares (and you can buy the "swinging" mutual fund shares too.)

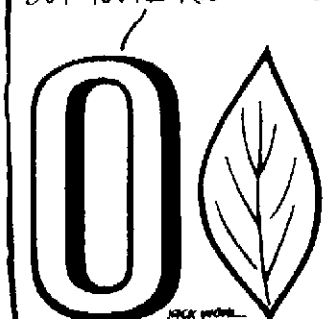

A drawback is the provision that if you have regular employees with three years or more service, you must cover them. Obviously if you have several employees, the cost of providing coverage for them with a contribution of 10 per cent of their earnings will more than offset the annual tax saving to you. You must, therefore, estimate the cost to you with care before going ahead. Another aspect is that most self-employed persons will not be able to draw benefits before age 59½ without incurring a penalty. Thus, if you are a very young professional or businessman, you might find freezing funds for your retirement 30 or 35 years hence is entirely too much of a financial burden. And of course, if you are in a low income tax bracket, the tax breaks will not be of major significance to you.

But assuming you are a successful middle-upper income self-employed with no long-term employees, a retirement plan under the law that applies beginning in 1968 makes excellent sense. And the sooner you start preparing to join the plan you like best, the better your tax strategy.

After Fifty Years

WASHINGTON — On the eve of the fiftieth anniversary of the Communist revolution, the chairman of the Soviet Communist party, Leonid Brezhnev, compared the American activities in Vietnam with "the atrocities of the Fascist brutes," and promised that the Soviet Union would keep on giving North Vietnam whatever military assistance it needed until the United States withdrew its forces from that country.

Reston

At the same time, Secretary of Defense McNamara announced here that the Soviet Union had started testing what American intelligence sources thought might be a weapons system for attacking any part of the world with nuclear weapons from space satellites.

This raises some interesting birthday questions. Where do we stand with this other major nuclear power on its fiftieth anniversary? What is the outlook for U.S.—Soviet relations, not only in Vietnam but elsewhere?

The Johnson Administration has been very generous in its estimates of Soviet policy in Vietnam over the last couple of years. It has been saying that Moscow was unhappy about the war, wanted to end it, but had limited influence on Hanoi, and couldn't really abandon a Socialist ally under bombardment by the United States.

Accordingly, Washington has gone along on the assumption that it could gradually increase the military pressure on Hanoi and force it to settle the war on our terms, and that Moscow would acquiesce in such an accommodation.

This assumption, however, has always been challenged by Washington's major European allies, and it is now being challenged by some of President Johnson's own associates—not to him personally, because he is not in a listening mood, but within the isolated precincts of the State Department.

There are many people within the Administration who take Brezhnev's threats seriously. They question the major assumption of the President and the Secretary of State that Russia will tolerate the slow defeat of North Vietnam and the Vietcong, and believe that Moscow has the power and the will to prevent it.

Their argument is as follows: Vietnam is not vital to the Soviet Union geographically, but it is vital politically. Aside from the question of wanting to support a Socialist ally, Moscow gains by Washington's involvement in the war. The cost to the Soviet Union of supporting North Vietnam is about $1 billion a year; the cost to the United States of supporting South Vietnam is about $30 billion a year. Moscow is worried about the war getting out of hand, and does everything it can to avoid a dangerous escalation on our part, but it is not unhappy according to this argument about an indefinite stalemate that divides the people of the United States, splits the Western alliance, diverts China from the Sino-Soviet border struggles, and costs Washington thirty times more than it costs Moscow.

Looking beyond the fiftieth anniversary of the Communist revolution to the next ten or twenty years, the prospect from Moscow is not very bright. The U.S. now has a two or even three to one advantage over Moscow in strategic weapons, and a much larger rate of economic growth. If the war ends, Washington's $30 billion a year for Vietnam will be available to ease the pressures in the American cities and in the underdeveloped world, and this would not be in Moscow's interests. Therefore, why should Brezhnev want to end the war, provided it can be controlled?

The Johnson Administration, of course, rejects this line of reasoning. It believes Moscow is merely providing token support to Vietnam and will eventually allow Washington's superior air and naval power to prevail, but this is an assumption that may be right and may be wrong, and it is at the heart of the debate going on here in Washington.

For example, Moscow is now providing rockets that can hit a distance of five miles. It is rationing its offensive weapons to Hanoi, but if the five-mile rockets do not maintain a balance of power, who not ten mile rockets? Moscow has them and it has missiles that can hit our fleet. The question is whether the Soviets are determined to deliver whatever necessary to keep the war going. Some officials here think Moscow is not; others think that it certainly is.

The evidence on the Administration's side is at least subject to debate. The Johnson Administration has tried with the utmost sincerity to get Moscow to limit the arms race to stop building an anti-ballistic missile system, to keep weapons out of space, to help end the war in Vietnam, and to cooperate in reducing tensions in Europe and the underdeveloped world—but Moscow has refused.

The Soviet leaders are not apparently trying to revive the most dangerous phase of the cold war, but they seem to be determined to go into the second half century of their revolution by creating as much mischief as they can, in Vietnam and elsewhere.

The liberal tendencies of the Johnson Administration lead it to believe that Moscow is coming around to a more moderate view of the cold war, but the evidence in Vietnam, in the Middle East, and in the development of weapons systems, suggests that the trend of Soviet policy is still going in 1967 against the West and in favor of revolutionary action, as it was from the beginning in 1917.

Warren, Pennsylvania 16365

Dear Editor:

Anyone who has seen the new Rouse Home certainly could not vote for Blain Mead for County Commissioner.

Mr. Mead voted against every attempt to modernize the home as it is today.

In 1964 when he was chairman of the Rouse Commissioners, the County appropriated $100,000 to pay the high expenses he permitted. THAT WAS MORE THAN THE TOTAL OF 1963 AND 1965 COMBINED. Obviously, Mr. Mead was not chairman in 1963 and 1965.

Mr. Mead voted against the completed house building program; he supported a plan that would have cost THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS MORE to provide the same facilities and supported out-dated programs which cost Warren County taxpayers EXTRA THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS.

I've been told the Commissioners saved more than $75,000 by converting the barn to patient care! Mr. Mead was against this saving.

Who's for economy in government?

Sincerely,
Walter Erbland

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

The Salvation Army of Warren County wishes to express its heart-felt appreciation for the excellent support that Warren Countians have made this year to the United Fund Campaign. The Salvation Army, as one of the ten participating agencies, will be able to provide a better service than in the past due to the nearly 100 per cent achievement of this goal of 1967. It makes us more aware of the close kinship that we have with our fellow man as we share each and another's burdens and cares. Therefore, we of The Salvation Army, wish to commend very highly every contributor to the successful 1967 United Fund Campaign.

The success of this Campaign is a result of wholehearted concern and convictions of its leadership and those who have done the hard work of contacting people to share in our community's responsibilities.

YOUR FUTURE DEPENDS ON IT!

Last Wednesday at a highway meeting in Meadville, Warren County Planning Director Robert Peterson and the Warren County planning commission received singular praise from State Highways secretary Robert G. Bartlett. He termed this county's efforts at planning and zoning as "wonderful, very fine progressive action."

But do you know that if Commissioner Blain Mead had his way Bartlett would never have spoken these words because Warren County would have no planning commission . . . no planning director. If Blain Mead had his way the planning commission would have been dissolved more than two years ago. There would be no planning or zoning ordinances. Yet Blain Mead says we should vote for him because a mere handful of Warren County residents voted for him in the primary. Does it make sense to let Warren County go down the drain because Blain Mead squeezed by in the primary with less than 1/4 of the registered Republican vote!

Records: Leon Bibb Sings Contemporary

Leon Bibb, known as a folk singer, who has sung spirituals a lot also, takes a new tack on his first album for Philips. The album is titled "The New Composers" and Bibb turns out to be just the person to sing them. The songs reflect the way song writers are looking at life currently. We have here praise of a way of life that is pastoral and beautiful (that's why the flower children like flowers) and disparaging the phony, pretentious, complex, materialistic.

Not all the songs are new; they're enclosed if they have "new" philosophy. Bob Dylan's "The Times They Are A-Changin'" is included.

More than anything else these songs praise the simpler ways of living, "Patch of Green," "If I Were a Carpenter," "Suzanne," "In My Life."

Bibb's style of singing is quietly assured. He has an individualistic sound in his voice, always difficult to describe, but it's there, raising his performance far above the bland.

A couple of people from comedy have new albums out on which they sing, both very well. They are Dick Smothers with "Saturday Night at the World" on Mercury and "Carol Burnett Sings," the comedienne's first for RCA.

Dick Smothers is best known as straight man and inept brother of Tom Smothers in the comedy routines by the Smothers Brothers. Their audience also realizes that he can sing and must sometimes say "Why doesn't he ever sing a song all the way through, without clowning?"

Well, now he does, in a light voice. His volume is not boosted unnaturally by recording techniques. Song such as "The World I Used to Know," are selected carefully to suit his voice. Most, but not all, are wistful. None requires a socko delivery. Smothers is at his best with simple accompaniment.

Only fault we can find with the album is that sometimes it is overproduced; sometimes there are too many instruments playing a "big" accompaniment in a complicated arrangement.

"I Know Why (And So Do You)" starts nicely, with voice backed with one instrument, (harp), chord, but goes on to loud, fancy instrumentation with an orchestra.

If other tracks weren't good, and they are, the last track alone would make this album worth the listening. Smothers proves that "What Now My Love" does not necessarily have to be a declaration.

Carol Burnett also is a person who can be funny and who can sing. She really gets into the lyric of "What Did I Have that I Don't Have Now?" and makes a driving song of "Wait Till the Sun Shines, Nellie."

Another "important" arrangement comes off like a gimmick that's "No Business Like Show Business," done with funky bass and lots of instruments. She sings it slowly, as if she had her head back and eyes closed, ruminating.

Miss Burnett is in the Ethel Merman tradition of really knowing how to put over a big line, like "Today's a Holiday" from the song "Enter Laughing." She has an edge on her voice which may be too much for some listeners. It was too strident for us only on one song, "Georgy Girl."

Nancy Wilson never disappoints. New girl singers flash across the record and nightclub sky, but Nancy Wilson remains the best of the young girl singers devoted to pop "good music."

On her new album, "Lush Life," she has elaborate arrangements. She has the voice and assurance to triumph over them, like a surfer coming in standing above even the biggest waves. Miss Wilson's voice can be quiet or reach out and wall. Among her songs on this album are "Free Again," "When the World was Young," and a couple that once belonged to June Christie, "You've Charged" and "Midnight Sun." On Capitol.

"Music from Million Dollar Shows" by Arthur Fiedler and the Boston Pops, on RCA, takes the big view musically of "My Fair Lady," "Camelot," "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever" and "The Sound of Music."

Whether you saw all these shows or not, you can enjoy their lovely melodies as done here in tasteful arrangements by Richard Hayman and Robert Russell Bennett.

Rice grows on one of every two cultivated acres in Japan.

Employees Get View of 'New' Levinson Brothers Store

The cold, wintry weather yesterday afternoon was quickly forgotten as employees by the dozen swarmed into Levinson Brothers with their families and friends to view the new facilities in the renovated "Big City Store in Warren."

Some 300 attended the open house to see the results of the half-million dollar, five-year program which will be officially unveiled to the public Wednesday night when State Sen. Richard C. Frame cuts the ribbon with a pair of gold shears.

Over 700 have been invited to attend that occasion, including business and professional people, friends of the store and those connected with major resources.

Yesterday, however, was Family Day, a day devoted to those who, in the words of Jake Levinson, "have made all this possible."

Speaking for his brothers, Nahum and Bert, and his brother-in-law, David Luxenberg, as well as for himself, he emphasized that this is really how the owners feel.

"The painters, carpenters, electricians and others have all played a part in it," he said, "but the people who are really responsible for it are the people who have been working in the organization over the years."

"We want you to know that it is appreciated," he added, "and at this time we give you our thanks. This is the most important thing that has happened in the many years we have been in business."

There was a little ribbon-cutting ceremony conducted by the third generation of Levinsons, the children of the owners, to mark the occasion.

Jake's comments at this time caused a ripple of laughter. "The children are using the common variety of shears," he said, "the $4.95 Weiss shears that are on sale."

A special pair of gold-plated shears will be used on Wednesday for the formal opening, he noted. "But we feel that this is the more important opening, the one that symbolizes that it is the family, those gathered here, that has actually made all this come to pass."

Outside the snow was falling, but inside those who came to the open house had an opportunity to sample the comfort provided by total electric heating. The new heating system, controlled by 24 thermostats, uses inside air, outside air, air-conditioned air or heated air as needed to provide a constant temperature.

They also had ample opportunity to view changes in lighting. Although fluorescent lighting is used throughout the building, in those areas where color rendition is important the lighting is incandescent.

Many marveled at the new lines which have been added, such as those in the gift and china department, the mattress corner on the third floor where customers can actually lie down on the mattresses to make a better selection, coordinated clothes by Villager on the second floor and the Deb Shop, the expanded men's department on the first floor and more elaborate sportswear department, and the big appliance department downstairs.

Children had a gay time in the new toy department. Women tried on hats in the millinery department and sought ideas for gifts in other departments. Men inspected new items available for their buying pleasure.

All enjoyed the background music provided by Gwen Winner at the organ and the refreshments downstairs.

It wasn't a bleak Sunday afternoon at all for those who attended the special opening. The warmth of the owners' thanks brightened everyone's day.

The side aisles, better display, improved lighting, expanded selection were much commented upon. Levinson Brothers invites everyone to visit the new "Big City Store in Warren" next week. They express their pride in the community's support which enabled them to embark on this half-million dollar expansion program and triple their business since they purchased the Metzger-Wright building in 1959.

The minor teeth of the pocket gopher grow 46 inches a year. Incessant gnawing keeps them worn down for practical use.

THIRD GENERATION

The Levinsons were born in Clymer over their parents' dry goods store which they still own. Yesterday afternoon, the three brothers, Nahum, Bert and Jake, and their brother-in-law, David Luxenberg, welcomed the friends and families of employees to an open house at the all new Levinson Brothers store. Their children were given the pleasure of cutting the ribbon to start the festivities and a merry scene it was. Doing the honors above, with Jake's assistance, are Wendy and Mara, Bert's daughters; Madalyn and Laura, Nahum's daughters; and Sara Beth, Lee Ann, Danny and Harry, Jake's children.

ADMIRING LAMP DISPLAY

Mrs. Hazel Homan, left, who is employed by Betty Lee, toured the new Levinson Brothers store with Mrs. Rena Hansen, who works on L. B.'s Magnificent Fashion Floor, the second, in the lingerie department. Above, they are admiring a lamp display on the new third floor.

THE ENCHANTMENT OF MUSIC

Selections by Gwen Winner at the organ provided yet another happy note to the welcome given by Levinson Brothers to employees and their families at an open house preview of the all new store at Second ave. and Liberty st. Sunday afternoon. Refreshments were also provided for the festive occasion.

Prince Prepares Royal Welcome For 'Jackie'

BY GEORGE MCARTHUR
PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk prepared a royal welcome at Port Sihanoukville for Mrs. John F. Kennedy, who will dedicate a boulevard to her late husband today in a gesture to narrow the diplomatic gap between Washington and Cambodia.

Although Prince Sihanouk and his guest insist their visit is non-political, he has gone out of his way to insure she is royally treated, and called her "the best representative America ever had."

For the past three days Mrs. Kennedy and her party, Lord Harlech, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bartlett and Michael Forrestal, virtually had the vast ruins at Angkor to themselves. They have been clambering over temples 1,000 years old. Deep in jungles they have been having lavish picnic lunches.

The only public word has been a brief message each evening outlining the busy schedule of temple-viewing, with private dinners each night in a comfortable villa provided by the prince.

Although the Sihanoukville ceremonies are labeled nonpolitical they may be another sign that the prince is softening his previously chilly attitude toward Washington. He referred to Mrs. Kennedy's visit as something of "a detente" and he has been visibly delighted she is here.

From what they have seen and heard, newsmen feel Mrs. Kennedy is having an equally delightful time.

Wysong Takes Hawaiian in Sudden Death

HONOLULU (AP) — Dudley Wysong, who began the tournament play with a blacksmith and finished with a jeweler's touch, won the $100,000 Hawaiian open yesterday by a sudden death playoff with Billy Casper.

Casper shot a birdie four on the final hole of the tournament to tie Wysong, the leader since the halfway mark, and send the tournament into a sudden death playoff beginning at the 15th hole.

The winner received $20,000 and the runner up $10,000.

Casper and Wysong finished at four-under-par 284 for the tournament. Casper shot even par 72, Sunday with birdies on Nos. 16 and No. 18. Wysong had 73.

Wysong, a soft spoken Texan, made a steady par four on the extra hole, the 41-yard 15th.

Casper hit his approach to the green into the sand, blasted out nine feet short and missed the putt.

The playoff was seen across the mainland United States on live television via satellite—the first time it had ever been done.

Wysong's only previous tour victory was in the 1965 Phoenix Open.

The two finished at 284, four over par for the windswept par 72 Waialae Course, which runs along the Pacific Ocean on the slopes of Diamond Head.

Casper and Wysong finished three strokes ahead of Doug Sanders, Babe Hickey, Deane Beman and Tom Weiskopf, the first round leader. Each had 287, one under par.

Defending champion Ted Makenzie of Honolulu, who skied to a 73 in the first round, finished with a 69 for 288 and a tie for 7th place with Bert Yancey and Ray Floyd.

Also at 288 even par was R.H. Sikes.

Tony Jacklin of England had 69 for 289 along with George Archer, Steve Spray and Harold Henning of South Africa.

Arnold Palmer scored 72-74-72-292 for a 17th place tie. This left him well short of the nearly $189,000 won by Jack Nicklaus this year, and Palmer said he would not try to pass his Canada Cup companion.

Nicklaus, who did not play here, joins Palmer in Mexico City Monday. He is thus assured of the money title, with a record total.

Dragons Finish With 34-6 Win Over Owls

'TANK' RIPS FOR YARDAGE

Steve "Tank" Tundel, Warren 185-pound junior fullback, pounds downfield in the third quarter of Saturday's 34-6 victory over Bradford. Tundel intercepted two Owl passes, cleared the way for teammate Dan O'Neil on power plays and sparked the drive for Warren's go-ahead touchdown in the second period. Linemen Tim Colter (63) and Tom Marti (85), who helped spring Tundel into the open, head downfield looking for more Owls to block. (Photo by Mahan)

PRO FOOTBALL ROUNDUP:

Unitas Leads Colts in Comeback Over Packers; Chiefs Whip Jets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Johnny Unitas threw two touchdown passes late in the game yesterday to keep the Baltimore Colts unbeaten in the National Football League with a 13-10 comeback victory over the Green Bay Packers.

Unitas' scoring strikes of 10 yards to Alex Hawkins and 23 to Willie Richardson came in a span of slightly more than two minutes as the Colts, 6-0-2, snapped a five-game losing streak to the Packers, 5-2-1.

The victory preserved Baltimore's one-game lead in the Western Conference's Coastal Division over the Los Angeles Rams, 5-1-2.

The Rams yielded a first-quarter touchdown to San Francisco and then stormed back for a 17-7 victory. Dick Bass ran for one Ram score and Roman Gabriel passed for another. John Brodie threw a TD pass for the 49ers, 6-3.

New Orleans picked up its first NFL victory after seven defeats by outlasting Philadelphia, 31-24 as Walter Roberts scored three touchdowns, including one on a 91-yard kickoff return. Norm Snead threw three

TD passes for Philadelphia, 1-4. Gale Sayers galloped 87 yards on a kickoff return for one TD and set up another with a 63-yard dash in leading the Chicago Bears, 3-5, to a 27-13 victory over Detroit. The Lions, a distant second to Green Bay in the Western Conference's Central Division, now are 3-4-1.

St. Louis and Cleveland remained in a first-place tie in the Century Division of the Eastern Conference with 5-3 records.

St. Louis scored touchdowns after intercepting a pass and recovering a fumble in the fourth quarter to beat Washington, 24-22. Jim Hart and Johnny Roland scored the final-period TDs on one-yard runs.

Frank Ryan, who was a doubtful starter because of an army injury, threw two scoring passes in the first quarter against Pittsburgh, 2-0, and Cleveland rolled to a 34-14 victory.

Dallas, the leader in the Eastern Conference's Capitol Division, ran its record to 6-2 by trouncing Atlanta 37-7. Don Meredith, back after missing three games, threw a pair of TD passes and ran for another score against the outclassed Falcons, 1-6-1.

The New York Giants dropped out of a tie with Cleveland and St. Louis by losing 27-24 to Minnesota.

New York, 4-4, built up a 17-7 lead at halftime, but the Vikings, 2-5-1, fought back to tie it 24-24 on Fred Cox' 37-yard field goal and then won it on Cox' 13-yard three-pointer with 10 seconds left. Fran Tarkenton passed to Homer Jones for two New York TDs and to Aaron Thomas for another. Clint Jones returned a kickoff 96 yards for a Minnesota touchdown.

Mike Garrett set a Kansas

City game rushing record of 192 yards as the Chiefs drubbed the New York Jets 42-13 in a big American Football League game.

Garrett ran three yards for one TD and Len Dawson passed for another as the Chiefs, 5-3, handed the Jets their second loss against five victories and a tie.

But the Jets remained alone in first place in the Eastern Division when second-place Houston, 4-3-1, lost 18-7 to Boston, 3-5-1. Gino Cappelletti kicked three field goals and Jim Nance ran 108 yards to lead Boston.

Western Division leading Oakland won its seventh game against just one loss but not without a struggle. The Raiders rolled to an 18-0 lead and then held off Denver, 1-8, to win 21-17. Darlyne Lamonia passed for two touchdowns and George Blanda booted a pair of field goals for the Raiders.

In the final AFL game, Buffalo, 3-5, blasted Miami 35-13. Jack Kemp threw two touchdowns passes for Buffalo, and Bob Griese tossed one for Miami, 1-6.

Three attempts to penetrate the Dragon line by fullback Joe Monago and halfback Jim O'Hargan netted four yards and gave the Owls a fourth-and-goal at the two.

The speedy O'Hargan got the call and started around his left end. Warren's Mike Curren came up hard from his right defensive, halfback position to drop O'Hargan for an eight-yard loss, the key defensive play of the afternoon.

After three plays, Warren punted then defensive end Ray Lowe recovered an Owl fumble at the Warren 45 to give the Dragons the ball as the first quarter ended.

The Blue and White moved to one first down, as Dan O'Neil followed Tundel around right end for nine yards after the big fullback had picked up four off the other side. A mixup in the backfield cost two yards, but senior split end Mike Hackett made a diving catch of an Ed O'Neil pass good for ten yards. A run by the younger O'Neil from the "shotgun" failed to gain first down yardage and the ball went over to Bradford at the Owls 33.

Tundel made his first interception of the afternoon on Bradford's first play, but five plays later Bucky Herzog of the Owls picked off an Ed O'Neil aerial at the three-yard line to kill Warren's attempt to score.

Monago sparked the Owls' 97-yard march to their only touchdown with a 39-yard scamper around Warren's right end and tossed a 49-yard pass to Herzog, who was brought down at the Warren one-yard line.

Owl quarterback Dave Ross went into the endzone on the next play, but an illegal procedure penalty nullified the score and set the Owls back to the six.

Monago got only one yard off tackle, then Ed O'Neil batted down a pass.

On the third-and-goal play, O'Hargan came left, but fumbled a pitchout and was trapped in the backfield by a Warren defender. He stepped out of the tackle, however, and ran past another Dragon to score with just over four minutes left before intermission. The conversion attempt was missed, but Bradford had a 6-0 lead and Warren was penalized fifteen yards on the kickoff for roughing the kicker.

The half ended with back-to-back interceptions and an Owl fumble.

The second half was all Warren.

Monago's kickoff to start the third period went out of bounds and Warren started its first touchdown march on their own 40. Dan O'Neil turned his right end for 13 yards on first down, then got three more off right tackle as the Dragons ran right at Bradford's power. Ed O'Neil carried three yards on a keeper and after that it was all Dan O'Neil.

"Dangerous Dan," who is being compared to the greatest running backs in the history of Warren High School, lugged the pigskin for the next ten plays in a row for gains of four yards, two, four, 15, five, seven, three two and two yards to put the ball on the Owl one.

He scored the tying touchdown over the left side behind the blocking tackle John Marchione, guard Tom Beckett and center Lowe. Doug Sorensen's kick for the point-after was low, but went over the cross bar and the Dragons were ahead 7-6 and would never be headed.

Ed O'Neil recovered a fumble at the Bradford 43 to set up the next touchdown. This time, wingback Dan Reynolds and Tundel shared running duties with Dan O'Neil and Warren scored in seven plays. Dan O'Neil covered the last 17 yards after taking a pitchout from brother Ed on a perfectly executed option play around left end. Sorensen's placement was short and to the right, but Warren's lead had mounted to 13-6.

The Dragons started their next touchdown drive as the final period started. Bradford had punted and the ball rolled dead at the Warren 16. Warren needed 14 plays to hit paydirt. Dan O'Neil reeled off back-to-back 11 yard gainers and two ten-yard carries in the march and Reynolds ripped off 14 on a reverse.

Dan O'Neil's final touchdown as a Dragon came with 4:41 left in the game. Again the way was cleared over left tackle and he hammered in from the four-and-one-half yard line. Sorensen's boot made it Warren 20, Bradford 6.

That is the way the game could have ended, except that tackle Tim Colter pounced on an Owl fumble at the Bradford nine and Warren quickly scored again.

Warren's defense, sparked by defensive end Bill "Buffalo" Songer, stopped Bradford's next attempt to move the ball and took over on downs at the Owl 36.

Spackman, a speedster, needed only one play and a little running room to sprint 38 yards down the Warren sideline, breaking one tackle and getting a key block from Hackett to outrun Monago into the endzone.

The triumph closed the book on Warren's season with seven victories and two losses, the best record by a Dragon eleven since the 1963 team posted an identical mark.

Waynesburg, Westminster And Indiana All Dropped

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Writer
Wilkes and West Chester made their points. But Waynesburg, Westminster and Indiana Pa. pleaded no defense.

Result: There are only two unbeaten football teams remaining in Pennsylvania.

Waynesburg's ambitious Yellowjackets, No. 2 ranked small college team in America, tumbled from their dizzy perchina 7-0 loss to unheralded Fairmont W. Va. State; Carnegie-Mellon ripped previously undefeated Westminster, 41-34, and Indiana's 10-game winning streak was cracked by unlikely California Pa. 27-20 in games Saturday.

The state's two other unbeaten teams, Wilkes and West Chester, kept on their merry way. Wilkes chalked up No. 20 in a row — longest winning streak in Pennsylvania — with a 27-0 whitewashing of PMC Colleges and West Chester thrashed Mansfield, 53-0, for its seventh in a row this year.

Waynesburg's loss to Fairmount was the shocker, since the Yellowjackets have squashed all opposition this year with a 60-point-plus average per game. They also were nudging San Diego State for the No. 1 small college team rating.

Fairmont, which hasn't even received honorable mention in the AP's poll of top small college teams, won on quarterback Roy Mitchell's 16-yard touchdown pass for the clincher with 40 seconds left in the game.

California tumbled Indiana from the unbeaten when Jim Boggio scored on a 23-yard touchdown run with 4:41 left, and Carnegie-Mellon surprised Westminster behind the passing of Tom Hark, who fired five scoring strikes.

Wilkes raced to its seventh victory of the season behind the alert play of safety Joe Wiondi, who intercepted two passes and ran 56 and 30 yards for touchdowns. West Chester embarrassed Mansfield as Bert Nye slashed for three touchdowns and cousin Dick Nye for two. Bloomsburg State was upset by fired-up Kutztown State, 26-

19. It was Kutztown's first win of the season. Quarterback Dick Lichtel, the passing magician of Bloomsburg State who has completed 56 per cent of his heaves this year, hit on only 22 of 54 in one of his poorest afternoons.

The first championship was clinched as Clarion rolled over Shippensburg, 36-8, to win the Western Division crown of the Pennsylvania State Colleges Conference. Jim Alcorn and Tom Kurts hooked up on three touchdown passes for the winners.

Running stars highlighted several other victories; Charlie Pittman scored three touchdowns in Penn State's 38-3 romp over punchless Maryland; Ed Mantie streaked 53 yards with a fourth-quarter punt that gave Syracuse a 14-7 win over Pittsburgh; halfback John Nice rolled up 130 yards rushing in Delaware Valley's 28-5 victory over Nichols Mass.; Mike Derchak jabbed over from the 1-yard line to give Temple a 13-3 victory over Bucknell and Jim Blacksmith galloped for 50 yards to spur Lock Haven to a 26-6 win over Slippery Rock.

Other teams harnessed air power for points, such as: Allegheny blanking John Carroll, 15-0; on the arm of Mike Gagney; Rutgers blitzing Lafayette 27-3 as Bruce Van Ness, a converted halfback, passed for two TDs; Harvard overwhelming Penn, 45-7 as Rick Zimmerman passed for two touchdowns and 337 yards; and Juniata, smashing Susquehanna, 45-20 as Don Weiss tossed three scoring strikes.

Thiel assured itself a share of the Presidents' Conference championship with a 35-8 pasting of Western Reserve behind the passing and running of Tom Phillips.

In other games, Colgate turned a halftime tie into a 20-7 victory over Lehigh by punching over two touchdowns in the second half; Millersville swamped Chynoweth State, 38-14; Grove City crushed Hobart in the ice and snow, 28-6; Lycoming turned on its ground power to blast Muhlenberg, 32-14; Ed Inborn's defense held when it counted in a 14-13 victory over Geneva; Upsala used a 20-yard field goal with 29 seconds remaining to clip Moravian, 31-28 and Hopkins scored in the air and on the ground to squash Swarthmore, 53-13.

Villanova beat Holy Cross, 23-14; Bethany whipped Washington & Jefferson 41-0; Franklin & Marshall downed wireless Haverford, 47-0; Drexel upset Gettysburg, 27-20; Ursinus won its first game of the year, 14-0 over Dickinson, and Albright squeezed by Lebanon Valley, 14-7.

A fast enough fastback.

But a Volkswagen fastback in a race with the rest of the fastbacks around today, and it would be the winner.

Even if you asked it wouldn't stand a chance against a 350 hp job. Our fastback cruises at 80 mph.

Tens of millions of people spend a lot of money on a car because it's big and fast.

But the strange thing is, when they buy a car with so much speed and power, they seldom stop to think where they're able to use it.

Do you need a 350 hp engine to take you anywhere?

Of course not. The answer is.

Of course not. A year's vacation time? Even if the money you can't use a hundred million, you can remember the fastest you can go on a highway is 70.

That's what we made the VW fastback the way we built it 55 horsepower engine gets you there in the way you'd like. And what many forget in a Volkswagen, there's plenty of power for growth, too.

Knights Find Bears Powerful Grid Team

By DAN PRATZ
LANDER — The last attack of the Knight brigade fell short of expectations here Saturday as the Frewsburg Bears overpowered Eisenhower amid a snowy gale, 27-6. The Knight attack appeared frozen as they were unable to move within scoring distance and the Bears powered through their defense. Doug Davis, 190-pound Frewsburg fullback, carried the ball for the first touchdown on a two-yard run. Quarterback Don Coe passed for two scores for the Bears, one on a 72-yard play to halfback Jerry Barber and the other on a 53-yarder to end Howie Moore. Barber also scored on the ground as he plowed three-yards for the final Bear touchdown. The only Knight score was carried by senior halfback Dick Hale, 27 yards for the last TD of his career.

Frewsburg kicked to the Knight 22 to open the game. A strong run by halfback Gary Dalrymple brought the ball out to the 50 where the Knights were faced with a five-yard offense penalty and their attack stalled. Martin Hodner was called onto punt and Frewsburg took an early lead, 7-0.

A kickoff to the 33 set the Knights up as the second quarter began. Dalrymple broke loose on a third down play for 26 yards, breaking several Bear tackles, to bring the ball out to the 35.

An Eisenhower fumble was then pounced on by the Bears and they took over at the 20. On the first play, Coe was caught deep in his own territory in an attempt to pass and was thrown for a 14-yard loss. A punt from the 10 put the Knights 30 yards from the goal line as their drive for a TD started.

In an attempt to score, Hale carried on the first play but only picked up three. The ball was again given to Hale on a counter and this time he sprinted off left tackle 27 yards for the first Blue and Gold touchdown. Jamie Nesmith attempted to convert the extra-point but his boot veered to the left and was ruled no good, and the Bears remained ahead, 7-6.

With a minute left in the half, the Knights kicked off to the Bears at their own 30. A powerful drive was stopped at the Knight's 30 on a fourth-and-six situation.

Eisenhower was then unable to move the ball out of their own territory and Hodner punted to the Bears 28.

With 15 seconds left to play in the first half, Coe faded back to pass and hurled a bomb to left end Barber who was just a step in front of his man, but managed to sprint into the endzone on a 72-yard pass-run play. Davis attempted to kick the ball for the extra-point, but it fell short as the teams retired to the locker room with Frewsburg leading 13-6.

A kickoff rumbuck of 30 yards by Davis started the second half of play for the Bears. A fumble at the 37 was covered by the Knights as they gained control of the ball and started their own drive in an attempt to even up the score. Dalrymple again fought his way through the Bear line as he carried the ball 21 yards down to the Bear 19. A fourth-down-and-four situation faced the Knights only 17 yards from the goal.

A keeper by Jamie Nesmith fell short by a yard as Frew-

burg took over on their own 13. Small gains for a first down moved the Bears out to the 37. A pass pattern similar to the second quarter play was run by right end Moore this time, and Coe hit him in the same fashion as he romped 33-yards for the score. Davis was called on to kick and it fell short, but an offside penalty was called against the Knights and the Bears got another attempt, one yard closer. Olson and the Bears controlled a 20-6 lead.

The rest of the third quarter was nothing but wet and slippery play as the ball exchanged hands three times on fumbles. Neither team was able to move within scoring distance as the snow and wind grew heavier and the third quarter ended with the Bears recovering a Knight fumble on their own 43.

An exchange of punts opened the fourth quarter as neither team was able to move in the weather. Frewsburg again controlled the ball, only this time at the Blue and Gold 29. Short runs and power plays moved the ball to the three-yard line where Barber carried up the middle and into the endzone for the final Bear score. An extra-point kick by Rick Davis was good and moved the Bears to a 27-6 lead.

A final attempt to score was made by the Blue and Gold squad as they received a punt at their own 34. Plays centered around halfback Dick Hale were run in an attempt for him to score in this, his final game. Hale broke loose on the first one and carried 36 yards to the Bears 30 before being stopped. Another give to Hale netted four yards on a short drive. The next play was halted by a clipping penalty against Frewsburg and the ball was carried out to the 13 and the Knights were given a first down.

With only three seconds left in the game and in the football careers of several boys, Hale again received the ball as he made a powerful run around the right end for eight yards, only to be stopped five yards short of his goal, where the game ended in a Frewsburg victory, 27-6.

Hale averaged seven yards per carry as he carried 19 times for a total of 132 yards. Dalrymple received the ball on 9 plays and carried for a total of 99 yards, an average of 11 yards per carry. The Knights finished out the season with a 2-6 record, one game better than last year's 1-7 slate.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL ROUNDUP:

Number 2 Bruins Tied; Houston Upsets Georgia

By RON RAPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
No matter how much harder No. 2 tries, it doesn't seem to help against Oregon State.

Last month, the Beavers knocked then-second-ranked Purdue down the ladder in The Associated Press college football poll, beating the Boilermakers 22-14.

Saturday, Oregon State tied UCLA, No. 2 last week, 16-16. And Nobody could say the Bruins weren't trying.

With a minute left in the game quarterback Gary Beban marched UCLA 47 yards to the Oregon State 20 and with 10 seconds left, Zenon Andrusyshyn tried for his fourth field goal of the day.

But Oregon State's Ron Boley broke through the line and blocked the kick, preserving the tie. The Beavers had tied the score on Mike Haggard's 28-yard field goal earlier in the quarter and only a missed extra point in the third period denied them the victory.

Andrusyshyn's three field goals came from 52, 33 and 26 yards out. The only Bruin touchdown came on a three-yard run by Beban.

Top-ranked Southern California survived the loss of O.J. Simpson without much discomfort, beating California 31-12. Steve Sogge passed for three touchdowns, Earl McCullough catching two of them.

Third-rated Tennessee made a shambles of the new Tampa Stadium christening, trouncing the outclassed Spartans 38-0. Dewey Warren threw for two Volunteer scores and Tampa couldn't get past the Tennessee 28.

North Carolina State, No. 4, turned in a strong effort against Virginia, winning 30-3. Gerald Warren put three field goals over for the Wolfpack, which got good passing from quarterback Jim Donnan. Georgia, ranked fifth, took 2 14-0 lead against Houston into the fourth quarter, but the Cougars rallied for two touchdowns and a two-point conversion to tie 15-14. Paul Gipson carried 28 times for 229 yards, a touchdown and the two-point play. Sixth-ranked Purdue, with Leroy Keyes leading the way, beat Illinois 42-3. Keyes scored three touchdowns, increasing his total to 15-tops in the nation and gained 224 yards on the ground.

Indiana, No. 7, got past Wisconsin 14-9 and survived a last-minute Badger drive that got the ball as far as the Hoosiers' 10. Harry Gonso passed for one touchdown and Mike Krivoshia scored the other from one yard out.

Eighth-ranked Wyoming extended its winning streak to a 28-7 triumph over San Jose State. The Cowboys set the Spartans back on minus 52 yards rushing.

Oklahoma scored a 23-0 victory over Colorado, No. 9, setting up touchdowns on two pass interceptions and a fumble. It was the Sooners' third straight Big Eight victory.

Notre Dame, No. 10, crushed Navy 43-14 with Terry Hanratty throwing for one touchdown and running for another and Rick Blier scoring on a pair of two-yard plunges.

In other games: Army topped Air Force 10-7 on Nick Ulirko's 45-yard field goal and Charley Jarvis' eight-yard touchdown run; Curt Wilson's 17-yard scoring toss to Charley Sanders sparked Minnesota past Iowa 10-0 and Bill Bell's 30-yard field goal with six minutes left lifted Kansas to a 17-16 triumph over Kansas State.

Dicky Lyons scored all 22 points on three touchdowns, one extra point and a field goal as Kentucky snapped a six-game losing streak with a 22-7 victory over West Virginia.

Texas Christian halted an eight-game losing skid, whipping Baylor 29-7 behind the four-touchdown performance of Ross Montgomery, and Charlie Pittman scored three times as Penn State clobbered Maryland 38-3.

Edd Hargett hit on 13 of 25 passes in Texas A&M's 33-21 triumph over Arkansas, and Texas survived four touchdown passes by Mike Livingston to defeat Southern Methodist 35-28 behind the passing and running of Bill Bradley.

Oregon held off a Washington State drive with 34 seconds to play and won 17-13. Miami of Florida held Virginia Tech to 57 yards and three first downs in a 14-7 victory and Mississippi

How Top Ten Did

Here's how the nation's Top Ten college football teams fared Saturday:

1. Southern California, 8-0, beat California 31-12.
2. UCLA, 6-0-1, tied Oregon State 16-16.
3. Tennessee, 5-1, beat Tampa 38-0.
4. North Carolina State, 8-0, beat Virginia 30-3.
5. Georgia, 5-2, lost to Houston 15-14.
6. Purdue, 6-1, beat Illinois 42-9.
7. Indiana, 7-0, beat Wisconsin 14-9.
8. Wyoming, 8-0, beat San Jose State 28-7.
9. Colorado, 5-2, lost to Oklahoma 23-0.
10. Notre Dame, 5-2, beat Navy 43-14.

capitalized on Louisiana State fumbles for a 13-13 tie.

Ed Mantie's 53-yard punt return for a touchdown gave Syracuse a 14-7 victory over Pitt. Auburn topped Florida 26-21 after erupting for 20 points in a three-minute stretch in the third period and Larry Walton romped for four touchdowns as Arizona State outslugged Utah 49-32.

Ohio State downed Michigan State 21-7, handing the Spartans their fifth defeat in seven games.

In other action, Utah State drubbed Brigham Young 30-9. Florida State whipped Memphis State 26-7. Alabama blanked Mississippi State 13-0. Stanford stopped Washington 14-7. Dayton tied Xavier, Ohio, 7-7. Georgia Tech knocked off Duke 19-7 and Clemson shut out North Carolina 17-0.

Wake Forest outlasted South Carolina 35-21. Nebraska blanked Iowa State 12-0. Missouri blanked Oklahoma State 7-0. Michigan beat Northwestern 7-3. Texas Tech stopped Rice 24-10. Yale walloped Dartmouth 54-15. Harvard crushed Penn 45-7 and Princeton mauled Brown 48-14.

Pass Interference Calls Set Up Ramblers' Scores

BRADFORD — Sheffield held favored Bradford Central Christian to a 13-13 tie in a hard-played season finale for both teams here Saturday night.

The Wolverines started strong, marching 76 yards after taking the opening kickoff for a 7-0 lead, but a pass interference penalty set up a Rambler touchdown near the end of the first half and a similar infraction in the fourth period allowed them to escape with a tie.

Senior halfback Mike Steffan tallied first for Sheffield on an eight-yard run, then senior fullback Ray Morrison blasted over from the one in the last period. Ted Morrison made one of two conversion attempts.

Ed Konwinski, the Ramblers' high-scoring halfback, had given Bradford CC a 7-7 deadlock on an eight-yard scamper to paydirt before halftime and speedy Steve Grillo handed the home team the tie on a fourth quarter touchdown from seven yards out. Rambler placekicker Jeff Smith hit on one of two extra-point tries.

Sticking to the ground, Sheffield had no trouble grinding out its first touchdown. Steffan had returned Smith's kickoff to the 24 before being downed and the Wolverines used 13 plays and nearly seven minutes in their scoring drive.

With Steffan, Morrison and senior Captain Merl Rice sharing the ballcarrying, the Orange and Black moved steadily downfield. An 11-yard ramble on a third-and-six by Steffan around his left end gave Sheffield its initial first down, then two plays later Morrison ripped for 23 big yards and Rice added eight more on a reverse.

In 12 plays, the Wolverines were camped on the Rambler eight-yard line with a first-and-goal. Steffan got the call on the touchdown play and bolted untouched through a huge hole over his right tackle and into the endzone. Ted Morrison added the point-after and Sheffield had a 7-0 lead with 5:02 remaining in the first period.

Helped by two penalties, one a 15-yarder for a personal foul, Bradford CC was able to pick up three first downs after taking the kickoff. An aggressive defense, led by sophomores Ted Morrison and Dave Rounds, threw Rambler backs for three straight losses and, on a third down play, the host team took to the air.

Defensive halfback Robbie Hart picked the Rambler aerial out of the air at Sheffield's eight-yard line and returned it to the Bradford CC 45.

A pass interference call on the Ramblers kept the next Wolverine drive alive, but it died when two straight passes went incomplete and the ball went over to the Ramblers on their own 15.

Finding they could run outside on Sheffield with success, the Ramblers drove to the tying touchdown in 18 plays. Konwinski slammed off the tackles for several three- and five-yard gains and Grillo got nine, eight and 14 yards around the ends to keep the drive going. A 15-yard pushing violation stalled the Rambler attack deep in Sheffield territory, but pass interference was called on the Wolverines two plays later to give Bradford CC a first-and-ten at the 15-yard line.

Konwinski carried on three straight plays for five and two yards, then scampered around his right end from the eight for the touchdown. Smith's conversion made it 7-7 at halftime.

The entire third quarter was a punting duel between Steffan of the Wolverines and Bradford CC's Mike Colligan. Steffan kicked twice on fourth down and Colligan booted three times, the last giving Sheffield possession on the Rambler 47.

Steffan was thrown for a loss on first down, but ripped up the middle on the next play, cut outside and sprinted 31 yards to the Rambler 21. Morrison and Rice combined to move the ball to the ten-yard stripe as the third quarter ended.

The final period opened with the Wolverines in a first-and-goal situation. Steffan got four yards around left end and Morrison slammed into the middle to the three-yard line. Another smash by the big senior fullback put the ball at the one-foot line and he powered over on the next play. Ted Morrison's conversion attempt was low and to the left, but Sheffield had taken the lead again, 13-7.

Bradford CC needed only five minutes to tie the game up.

After taking the ensuing kickoff on their 37, the Ramblers mounted another scoring drive. Two pass plays, one a 32-yard pickup from quarterback Chris Crowley to Grillo, and the running of Konwinski kept the Ramblers moving.

Konwinski got a grudging two yards on a first down play at the Sheffield 13, then he was stopped at the line of scrimmage on an end run.

On third down, Crowley passed again and the aerial was batted down by a Wolverine defender at the goal line. Referee Frank Funair, however, ruled that the Rambler receiver had been pushed on the play and Bradford CC was awarded a first-and-goal at the seven.

Grillo scored on the next play, racing around his right end for the touchdown. Smith missed the extra-point kick that would have given Bradford CC a 14-13 lead.

Sheffield punted after its next series of downs, then got the ball back when Bob Shaffer recovered a Rambler fumble on the Bradford CC 40-year line.

Operating from a "shotgun" formation, Steffan threw five straight passes. Hart hauled in one for an 11-yard gain, but another was dropped and three fell incomplete, giving the ball back to the host club. On first down, however, Hart intercepted a Crowley aerial and a pass interference call, this time against Bradford CC, kept Sheffield hopes alive.

With the seconds ticking off, a Steffan pass was incomplete and he was stopped on a run on the final play of the game as the Wolverines settled for the tie.

Sheffield, under first-year coach Joe Giordano, closed the season with two victories, six losses and one tie. Bradford Central Christian showed a 4-2-2 mark.

That's Really Specializing!

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — They're specializing in football nowadays.

Trying to get a story on an area college game, a News-Press staffer reached a player of the host team by telephone.

The athlete gave the final score and reported his team's record for the year.

"Can you tell me who scored your touchdowns?" the newsmen asked.

"No," replied the athlete, "I play defense."

Has Some 'Shakes'

Pennsylvania News Service HARRISBURG—The so-called "off-year" general election us going on out Pittsburgh-way throughout Pennsylvania tomorrow. In Pennsylvania's other major row may not be regarded as populous center.

Unlike his counterpart in the east, Pittsburgh Mayor Joseph M. Barr, Democratic National Committeeman and party bigwig is not faced with a mayoralty contest this year but as the generally regarded leader of Democrats in the western part of the state, plus many another section of the state, he and fellow party warhorses have their hands full in trying to retain control in Allegheny County tomorrow.

Denison

In Philadelphia Democratic Mayor Tate is faced with contesting the aspirations of a Republican district attorney.

In Allegheny County Democratic Mayor Barr is faced with contesting the aspirations of a Republican district attorney seeking another term, a gent by name of Robert W. Dugan, regarded as the strong man of the GOP state. Here again the Republican candidate (and again the district attorney) is given a good sporting chance in tomorrow's battle of the ballots.

However this isn't particularly where the real Democratic split holds forth. Rather it is in the contest for Allegheny County Commissioner, in which incumbent (Democratic) Commissioner William D. McClelland is seeking another term—notwithstanding the fact that prior to the spring primary he was knocked out of party endorsement by Mayor Barr, which duly scuttled his (Democratic) ship in the primary.

However old Democrat McClelland did manage to generate sufficient write-in votes as the Constitutional Party candidate to be eligible for tomorrow's fray. It is his name on the ballot tomorrow that could play hob with Democrats, Mayor Barr and his Democratic machine notwithstanding.

Democrats in their two big citidels in Pennsylvania will be on the line tomorrow with a look-see to presidential 1968 quite possibly in the offing insofar as ability to deliver is concerned, party splits notwithstanding. The stakes are high in both areas.

The Smith-Tate feud has not settled well even at this late date with the result that most of the time machine Democrat in the City of Brotherly Love are at wits end trying to decide which way to jump.

They'll need all their wits tomorrow in the showdown between Mr. Tate, who first moved into the mayoralty pew in the city hall back in 1962, and Mr. Specter, the Republican district attorney now shooting for the Tate-held slot.

Pope is 'Satisfactory' After Prostate Surgery

By GERALD MILLER VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI, described as in "truly satisfactory" condition after his prostate surgery, began taking food and water yesterday.

The four chief doctors on the team that performed the surgery Saturday morning spent Saturday night in the Apostolic Palace to be near the pontiff, 70, during the first crucial hours of convalescence.

They reported he spent a tranquil night and that everything was "progressing in line with best expectations."

"His general condition is truly satisfactory," they said in a Sunday communique. "Post-operative developments are regular. His temperature did not exceed 37 degrees—98.6 F. His blood pressure is normal. His pulse is regular."

The Pope took no food or water during the first 24 hours after the operation. But yesterday.

The members have been reminded to bring their donations of food for the basket. The program will close with the drawing for a four foot stuffed animal. Proceeds from the tickets will go towards the support of the Korean orphan.

Mrs. Marian Potter will be the guest speaker.

day morning he started taking liquids. He will do this for several days before he can return to a more solid diet.

The tone of the communique was one of satisfaction. It was the same in an interview Dr. Pietro Valdoni, the chief surgeon, gave Saturday night in a nationwide television broadcast.

He said the Pope had come through the 45-minute operation "brilliantly."

The general positive tone was taken by observers as a sign that laboratory analysis had shown the Pope's prostate gland was not cancerous.

To Recognize 1500th Scout

Robert L. Moran, manager of Printz Company in Warren has announced that his store will be recognizing the 1500th boy who becomes a Scout this fall.

A new Scout uniform will be awarded to the 1500th Scout in the local council by the Printz Company, who is the official Scout distributor in Warren.

Currently the local Scout Council is no longer the smallest of the 50 Boy Scout Councils in Region 3. During September the Chief Cornplanter Council for the first time has grown in size enough to pass Hazleton, Pa.

It is anticipated that sometime in December the Council will reach this new high membership. The year-end goal is 1530 Cubs, Scouts and Explorers. This figure does not include the registered adults in the program and sustaining members of the local council.

By year-end this total figure will probably approach 2500 boys and adults.

The Chief Cornplanter Council is a participating agency in the United Fund of Warren County and the United Fund of the Corry Area.

Labor Amendment Only Statewide

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
HARRISBURG (AP) — Mayorality elections in Philadelphia and Harrisburg and voting for delegates to the Constitutional Convention will highlight balloting in tomorrow's general election.
National attention is focused on the heated race for Philadelphia mayor between the incumbent Democrat, James H. J.
Tate, and his GOP challenger, Dist. Atty. Arlen Specter.
Political observers across the country will watch the Philadelphia contest to see if they can detect any straws in the wind for the 1968 presidential election.
For the most part, however, Pennsylvanians will be busy deciding on local issues such as county commissioner races, bond issues and the like.

The only item on the statewide ballot is a constitutional amendment. It proposes that binding arbitration decide all labor disputes between policemen or firemen and their public employers.
For the first time in years,
the capital city of Harrisburg is witnessing a spirited campaign for mayor. It pits Republican Albert H. Straub against Democrat John "Jack" Lynch.
Straub, a 62-year-old insurance executive, is seeking to continue the 52-year Republican domination of city hall.
The 37-year-old Lynch, a former Capitol Hill newsmen, faces a 3 1/2-to-one Republican voter registration majority.

Of common interest across the state is the Constitutional Convention which will convene here
Dec. 1 for a three-month stay in order to suggest changes to four parts of the state charter.
Convention recommendations still would have to be approved by the voters in the spring primary.
Voters in each of the state's 50 senatorial districts will cast ballots for two delegates. But the top three vote-getters will become delegates, thus insuring minority representation.
The 150 delegates will join 13 legislative leaders for a total of 163 delegates to sit in the convention.
The magic number is 82 since that is the majority of the 163 convention seats. Whichever party captures 82 delegates will be able to organize and control the convention.

Whichever party wins control will be able to elect the convention chairman, a powerful and prestigious position.
Lt. Gov. Raymond P. Broderick is considered a top contender for the chairmanship should Republicans win control.
Former State Sen. Robert P.
Casey of Lackawanna county is named as a likely candidate for chairman should Democrats capture the majority of convention seats.
Casey, the organization choice for governor last year, would have to win his election as delegate first, of course. Broderick is one of the 13 legislative leaders automatically designated as delegates.
Former Gov. William W.
Scranton, a Republican, is running for delegate from Lackawanna County but has already ruled himself out as a contender for the chairmanship.
All across the state a score of other cities are holding local government elections. They include: Harrisburg, Altoona, Bradford, Chester, Easton, Greensburg, Johnstown, Reading, Wilkes-Barre, Washington and Williamsport.
Partisan interest in Pittsburgh centers on a three-way contest for Allegheny County commissioner.
Also on the ballot are two vacant seats in the State Senate from Allegheny County and one from Philadelphia. There is also a vacancy in the State House of Representatives from the 65th Legislative District of Warren and Forest counties.
There are 5,323,119 Pennsylvanians eligible to vote in tomorrow's election. Republicans hold a slim edge in the registration books of 9,507.
The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in 9,462 voting precincts.

WARREN TIMES-MIRROR AND OBSERVER

WARREN, PA., MONDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1967

Picking Convention Delegates Important

At the Primary Election on May 16, 1967, the electorate of Pennsylvania decreed that an attempt should be made to rewrite, in substantial part, Pennsylvania's Constitution of Civil War vintage. The Convention's decisions will affect the future of the Commonwealth for decades.
The Convention will consist of 163 delegates, 150 of whom will be elected Tuesday. Three delegates are to be elected from each of the 50 senatorial districts in the state. Candidates are persons who have been selected by political parties (two for each party in each district) or who have obtained signatures of 500 qualified electors on a petition. Each voter may vote for only two delegates.
The three candidates with the highest number of votes will be the delegates to the Convention.
The League of Women Voters of Warren Area urges all voters to keep in mind that the delegates they will be selecting to go to Harrisburg should be intelligent and of the highest integrity. Each delegate is responsible to the whole state, not just to the district he or she is representing. Each candidate's qualifications should be carefully examined, and it is the voter's responsibility to choose delegates of stature and ability, regardless of party affiliation. A mixture of provisions demanded by selfish interests or particular localities will not make a good constitution. What is good for the state as a whole will, in the long run, be good for the individual district and for all legitimate interests in the state.

The Convention will convene on December 1, 1967, and adjourn no later than February 29, 1968. All of its recommendations shall be placed before the electorate at the Primary Election in April, 1968.

Delegates will receive $2,500 plus an allowance for traveling expenses. However, the members of the General Assembly and officers and employees of the Commonwealth who serve as delegates will be reimbursed only for expenses actually incurred.
It is impossible to overstate the importance of the selection of well qualified delegates to this Constitutional Convention. Their suggested revisions for voter consideration next April can be the pattern for progress for Pennsylvania.

FACTS ON ELECTION

HARRISBURG (AP)—Here are the facts pertinent to the Nov. 7 election:
Ballot issues—One statewide amendment for compulsory arbitration of fire and police municipal disputes; munic-pal governments in Philadelphia and 24 smaller cities; 150 delegates to the Constitutional Convention; three vacancies in the State Senate and one in the State House of Representatives.
Eligible to vote—2,628,230 Republicans; 2,618,723 Democrats; 2,391 Constitutional; 73,774 independents and minor members.
Voting precincts—Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in 9,462 precincts.

SHRINERS LADIES NIGHT

The annual Ladies Night banquet was held by the Warren County Shrine Club at St. Pauls Center in Saybrook Saturday night. In charge of arrangements were (left to right) George Rice, A. R. Peterson, Mark Ervin, Robert Bowen, chairman;
Walter Austin and Ray Chapman. (Photo by Mahan)

Polls Open From 7 A.M. To 8 P.M.

Tomorrow is election day and the voters of Warren County will go to the polls to elect officials for state, county and local offices.
The polls in the county's 46 precincts will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. giving the voters 13 hours in which to cast their ballots. Voters are encouraged not to wait until the eleventh hour to get to the polls, creating the problem of some voters not being able to vote.
Election procedure states that at the time the polls close if a number of persons are present who have not voted, election officials are permitted to allow two voters for each machine or booth to vote plus ten additional voters.
Offices to be filled tomorrow include the half term of state assemblyman left vacant at the death of William Fuell-hart, two constitutional convention delegates, three county commissioners, sheriff, register and recorder, treasurer and in some localities, councilmen, supervisors and school directors.
All available returns will appear in Wednesday morning's edition of the Times-Mirror and Observer.

Fuller Raps 'Bill' Allen At Demo Women's Meeting

Alva B. Fuller, Democratic candidate for the 65th District seat in the General Assembly, belittled his opponent William Allen and the Republican party in general Saturday night charging that the Republicans have as their candidate a handpicked rubber stamp for the governor's $300 million tax program.
"My opponent is a rubber stamp for this program, picked by the powerful Republican bosses of Warren and Forest counties," Fuller said at a rally sponsored by the Allegheny Democratic Women's Club in Clarendon.
He explained that a vote for Allen, now chief commissioner's clerk, is a vote for "higher and new taxes, because he could not have been the candidate if he had not agreed to furnish the one vote necessary for the higher tax program now stalled in the Assembly."
Concerning the governor, the party, and the tax program, Fuller noted, "There were two vacancies in the Assembly and the Democratic party was able to hold up governor Shafer's program as long as the vacancies were unfilled, but the governor succeeded in getting one of his handpicked candidates elected at a special election which cost the taxpayers of Pennsylvania a lot of money in Delaware County.

He added, "The Republican Party was immediately able to force through the assembly four new tax bills totaling $126 million. This they were able to do by one single vote. If there had been one less vote for these taxes the people of Warren and Forest counties and of Pennsylv-vania, would not now be paying these unnecessary taxes."
"Now the governor wants another of his handpicked taxers to be sent to Harrisburg," he continued, "to get another $188 million of unproven, unnecessary taxes through the House."
The governor is still one vote short of the number to pass his program.
If elected Fuller pledged to not vote for any taxer-marked for the governor's general fund.
He said, "I will only vote for taxes if they are assigned to a specific program and proven necessary. This is my pledge to the people of Warren and Forest counties."
He ended his speech with a few notes on his position. "Some of the taxes the good governor wants would prove disastrous to orphans and widows," he said

"like a one per cent levy on insurance benefits, three per cent on car trade-ins, plus many others. My position is the same as that taken by a few Republican members of the Assembly. They will not vote for unnecessary taxes."
Fuller promised that if the voters elected him he would "hold the line on taxes," and said that now the voters have an opportunity to influence the future of the Commonwealth.

Terrorist Bomb Kills Officer

HONG KONG (AP) — A British-born police inspector was killed and 21 other persons were wounded last night by a terrorist bomb in front of a restaurant.
Last night was one of the most costly in the hands of terrorist bombers since the campaign started in July.
Six other persons, including five policemen, and a suspected terrorist, were wounded by terrorist bombs yesterday.
The police inspector was trying to remove a bomb from a traveling bag when it exploded, killing him, wounding bystanders and shaking buildings.

2 Died in Fire

TUNNELTON, Pa. (AP) —
Nine members of the Harold Fink family were homeless Sunday after fire swept their home and killed two young sisters.
Police say the parents were away when the fire broke out in the frame house. Two older children, 17-year-old Harold and 15-year-old Pauline, tired to get the nine children out.
But Victoria, 6, and Kimberly, 3, were caught in the building and perished.
The couple's oldest son is in the Army in Germany.
The cause of the fire was not determined.

Death Rate In Warren Co. Below Average

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau)
HARRISBURG — The death rate in Warren County last year was below the statewide average.
This was indicated in a detailed county-by-county survey just completed by the State Department of Health on mortality in the Keystone State — which showed the death rate for Warren County for example to have been 10.8 per 1000 population, as compared with the statewide rate of 10.9 deaths per 1000 population.
Deaths within the county last year were in line with 1965 county deaths, the department survey showed.
Diseases of the heart proved to be the leading cause of death in Warren County last year, accounting for 224 such fatalities.
Deaths included 175 from arteriosclerotic heart disease, seven from chronic rheumatic, 26 from degenerative nonrheumatic, five from heart disease with hypertension and 11 from other heart diseases.
Cancer ranked second with 83 deaths and vascular lesions affecting the central nervous system (apoplexy, cerebral hemorrhage, stroke, etc.) third with 55 deaths.
Pneumonia and influenza followed with 42 deaths. Accidents claimed 21 lives, including among these 12 deaths resulting from motor vehicle accidents and nine deaths from accidents other than motor vehicle. Certain diseases of early infancy were listed as the cause of death in 11 cases while diabetes was blamed for 10 deaths, with suicide listed for eight county deaths.

6,575 Snow Fighting Vehicles Ready to Battle the Elements

It's snowtime in Pennsylvania and the State Highways Department has "on the alert," a more experienced force equipped with some of the newest and biggest motorized vehicles available.
The assignment? Keep Pennsylvania's 43,577 miles of state maintained highways clear this winter.
Ready to battle the elements is a fleet of 6,575 snow fighting vehicles. If placed bumper to bumper they would stretch for about 25 miles.
By mid-November there will be enough snow fence erected in the State (3,400 miles) to cross the continent from New York City to Los Angeles. Snow fence, this winter, will help shield about one in every 13 miles of highway.
In addition it is estimated that 600,000 tons of chemicals will be used—about 13 tons per mile. One year ago it cost Pennsylvanians a record $38 million to keep highways both open and safe for travel.
Almanacs are forecasting a rough winter, but for one of the few times the Highways Department entered the month of November without dispatching any snow fighting equipment. The first snow flurries of the season, however, were reported across the northern tier counties and in several southwestern counties on October 26.

New equipment includes a truck with a 38-foot snowplow blade, and snowplow blades that are said to last several hundred times as long as the steel blades used in the past.
Harvey W. Gehr, assistant chief engineer in charge of maintenance, said the Highways Department is revising and expanding operations in an effort to provide a winter program of safety second to none.
Program revisions or changes include:
—A special equipment inspection tour (Nov. 1-17) by Central Office personnel in each of the 11 engineering districts;
—The start of equipment operators training courses.
—Annual pre-winter meeting of all county superintendents (recent meeting was the first in 27 years); and —Advancing, by several weeks, the start of vehicle maintenance to assure sufficient time to ready equipment.
Highways Secretary Robert G.
Barlett said the changes are part of the Department's overall program to improve safety on the highway, both for the motorist and employees.
The Department again has engaged the services of a statewide weather forecasting service. Gehr said the service eliminates periods of waiting by employees due to uncertainty, and has brought about greater operating efficiency.

The truck with the 38-foot wide snowplow blade will be assigned to the Erie area for use on limited access highways.
Also, for the first time snow fighting equipment, will utilize tungsten-carbide and rubber snowplow blades.
The average "life" of a steel blade is from five to 12 hours while the new tungsten-carbide blade life is expected to exceed several hundred hours.
The Department will be experimenting with 70 tungstencarbide and five rubber blades during the winter.
Another change will be in the snow removal phase of the program. For the first time contracts have been awarded for the removal of snow from five sections of limited access highways in the Philadelphia area.
It is part of a program to determine the feasibility of contracting for snow removal.
The equipment fleet includes 3,525 state owned vehicles.
Available on a rental basis, if needed, are 1,492 trucks, 648 graders, 8-8 loaders and 22
snow blowers. State owned vehicles include 2,400 trucks, 628
graders, 450 loaders and 47
snow blowers.

Wanderings

by Marion Honhart

JUST BACK FROM A TWO-WEEK VISIT IN CHICAGO are Mr. and Mrs. Franklin R. Hoff of Warren. They were the guests of their two sons and their families—Rowell S. Hoff is director of the English Language Institute of the Central YMCA College in Chicago and resides in the Chicago suburb of Skokie. Dr. Ramon B. Hoff is professor of Physics at DePaul University in Chicago; his family residence is in Hyde Park, near the university's campus.

A NOTE FOR THE COLLEGE WOMEN'S CLUB—Mrs. John Robertson alerted me that the wrong hostess list was submitted for the Wednesday evening meeting (their turn will no doubt be coming later). However, for this Wednesday, these are the members of the hostess committee: Mrs. Earl Ericson, chairman; Mrs. Norman Davidson, Mrs. L. N. Donaldson, Mrs. John L. Davidson, Mrs. J. Russell Elliot. Don't forget all reservations for this very interesting meeting must be in by noon today. L. K. Kelley, Forest Supervisor of the Allegheny National Forest is to be the guest speaker.

GENERAL JOSEPH WARREN CHAPTER D.A.R. is meeting on Thursday in the Hospitality Room of the Northwest Savings and Loan at 8 p.m. The "Life of Stephen Foster" will be the book review by Mrs. Steven Saylor. The hostess committee will serve refreshments under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. H. A. Andersen and Mrs. J. C. Torrance. Mrs. Orlo G. Johnson, regent, will preside at the meeting.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A few weeks ago I went to a funeral in a small midwestern town—population under 500. After the funeral services the procession headed toward the tiny cemetery. On the way we passed a field where a farmer was planting grain. As we passed, he stopped his tractor, climbed down, removed his old straw hat and stood with his head bowed until the procession had passed.

This struck me as being one of the most heart-warming gestures I had seen in years. In the large city where I live, a funeral procession passes our office almost every day. I have seen small children make faces at the mourners in the cars. I have seen impatient motorists honk their horns and cut in front of a hearse. No respect. No consideration. No kindness. Are people changing or are city people different from small town people?—JUST INQUIRING

DEAR JUST: A little of each, my friend. A little of each.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You are the judge and jury. The time: 5:40 p.m. The place: Living room. The trial: Plaintiff (whole family) versus the defendant (Tabby The Housecat). Charge: Murder of Bella, a pet parakeet. Defenders argue: It is instinctive for cats to kill birds. Tabby is therefore innocent. Prosecutor argues: Tabby knew better. The trial raged for one minute and 23 seconds. The verdict: Tabby found guilty of murder in the first degree. Sentence: Banishment. I am appealing the case to a higher court. You, Ann Landers, have the power to reverse the decision. What is your verdict?—DEFENDER OF TABBY

DEAR DEFENDER: I refuse to pass judgment on the grounds of insufficient information. For example: Was Bella in her cage or was she out of her cage? If Bella was out of her cage, Tabby is innocent. He did what came naturally. If someone let Bella loose, he, in my opinion, is the guilty party.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am an 18-year-old girl who just got out of a home for unwed mothers. The father of my child was 10 years my senior, had two ex-wives, three children and never did an honest day's work in his life. He gave my father a nice fat check and I agreed to put the child up for adoption. I learned yesterday that the dirty crook is going with another 18-year-old girl who lives 200 miles from here. She is a close friend of my cousin. The girl knows about his two ex-wives but she does not know about me. I can't sleep nights worrying about this poor kid. I'm making a carbon copy of this letter, Ann, and I would like to send it to her (anonymously, of course) with your reply. Yes or no?—SORRY TOO LATE

DEAR LATE: No. The girl probably knows about you and figures you tried unsuccessfully to trap the guy. Mind your own business and concentrate on making a life for yourself.

How far should a teen-age couple go? Can necking be safe? When does it become too hot to handle? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking And Petting—What Are The Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Anne Margaret Putnam Weds

William Heselton Mallinson

Saturday, November 4, at 3 o'clock, Trinity Memorial Church was the setting for the wedding service uniting in marriage Anne Margaret Putnam and William Heselton Mallinson. The Rev. Richard H. Baker, rector, officiated. Wedding music was provided at the organ by Mr. Carroll A. Fowler. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Putnam, 302 East Street; the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert H. Mallinson of 719 Sunset Avenue, Johnstown.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride approached the altar in a floor length wedding gown of ivory peau d'ange, fashioned in a skimmer-cage silhouette over a fallie taffeta sheath. Scallops of the lace defined the high empire bodice which had a jewel neckline and long fitted sleeves ending in scallops at the wrist. Her mantilla of English silk illusion was edged with the exquisite lace.

Mrs. H. C. Putnam Jr., sister-in-law of the bride was her only attendant. She wore a slim floor length linen gown of leaf green with Venetian lace scroll trim. The best man was H. C. Putnam Jr., brother of the bride, and ushers were Dr. William H. March Jr. of Pittsburgh, brother-in-law of the groom, and Charles Schulte of Clarksburg, West Virginia. Mrs. Joseph M. Gibson, grandmother of the bride, was present at the nuptials and remembered with a corsage. A reception was held in the church. Afterwards the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip to Bermuda. Mr. and Mrs. Mallinson will be at home at 20 Conewango street, Russell, after November 20. Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. Willis Loding and Mrs. Meredith Gindery; Mrs. Paul Jackson; Mrs. Gifford Anderson and Mrs. Joseph L. Gibson. The rehearsal dinner was held at the Three Flags Inn. Friends and relatives attended from Johnstown, Sewickley, Perrysville, Oil City, Corry, Pittsburgh, Hollidaysburg and Edinboro, Penna.; Front Royal, Va.; Clarksburg, West Va.; Jamestown, N.Y.; Port Arthur, Texas.

Newcomers Entertained With Talent Night

Talent night was the theme of Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club meeting held last Thursday in Fellowship Hall of First Presbyterian Church. Sullakshna Goel began the program with instrumental music played on an Indian sitar. Florence Kibler sang two selections accompanied by Carol Albrecht. A very successful skit, introduced by Rosemary Lavey as "Winter Wonderland" by the "Newcomers Corps de Ballet," was performed by Jan Cowles, Lynn Smith and Mary Ann Carney. "Christmas Fantasia" and "Aire de Ballet" were the piano selections played by Carol Albrecht. Lita Schaaf read a poem by Ann Bradstreet called "Thoughts on our Children." Shelli Ache, Carol Davis, Marge Marchione and Francine Pike sang "Silver Bells" accompanied by Carol Means and a final surprise item was a sing-along conducted by Sue Hoskinson. Marge Marchione introduced Heloise Hints.

I find a nut pick is a handy thing to keep in my sewing basket. It's strong enough to pull out the most stubborn bastings without any danger of bending. It's also good for untangling knots in parcels or children's shoe strings. Marjorie Lawrence

Coleman-Dodds Wedding Held In St. Mary's Church, Avoca

Phyllis R. Coleman and Robert E. Dodds were recently married in St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Avoca, Penna. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Robert F. Coleman of 801 Hawthorne street, of that city, and the late Mr. Coleman. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Dodds of 8 New street, Warren. The Rev. Father Daniel McCarthy of the Sugarbush, Penna., St. Charles Roman Catholic Church read the double ring wedding rites in the presence of one hundred seventy-five wedding guests.

Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Albert Magnatta, and adorning the candlelit altar were bouquets of white chrysanthemums with gold salal leaves, cymbidium fern banked with Kentia palms. The bride placed a bouquet of white carnations at the altar of the Blessed Mother.

Escorted on the arm of her uncle, Lucian Snopkowski, the bride approached the altar in a white floor length gown of imported peau de sole with French Chantilly lace. The bodice was styled with a bateau neckline, elbow sleeves and an empire waistline. The Adeline skirt featured lace appliques and terminated in a fully chapel train. Her headdress was a papal crown of lace, pearls and crystals with a butterfly veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis entwined with variegated ivy.

The young couple were the honored recipients of the Papal Blessing.

The maid of honor was Rita Maziarz, cousin of the bride, of Duryea, Penna., in penrod silk crepe matching pillbox headdress securing a shoulder veil of silk illusion. She carried a variegated bouquet of flowers. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Carol Dunleavy, cousin of the bride, of Avoca, and Lorraine Rockwell of Towanda. Both gowned similarly to the honor attendant.

The best man was William Dodds, brother of the groom, and ushers were Joseph Dzwilsky of Towanda, and Frank Susi of Akron, Ohio, a cousin of the groom.

The mother of the bride selected a two-piece sheath dress and coat ensemble of brown ribbon knit, with a beige cymbidium orchid corsage. Grandmothers, Mrs. William Coleman of Avoca, Mrs. Adele Grill of Franklin, Mrs. Earl Dodds of Franklin, also had cymbidium orchid corsages.

One hundred and seventy-five guests attended the cocktail hour and dinner reception held in the Scranton, Penna., Elks Club after the nuptial service. The receiving line stood before a background of Kentia palms and cymbidium fern.

For traveling to St. Thomas of the U.S. Virgin Islands for a honeymoon, the bride wore a two-piece green and purple dress and jacket with matching accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Dodds are now at home at R.D. 2, Wysox, Penna.

The bride is a graduate of St. Cyril Academy, Danville, and Marywood College in Scranton, with a B.S. degree in Chemistry. She is employed as a research chemist with Sylvania Products Incorporated. The groom is a Warren High School graduate, and graduated from The Pennsylvania State University at State College, with a B.S. degree in Chemistry and is also with Sylvania Products Incorporated doing research in chemistry.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by the bride's attendants; Mrs. Ronald Dodds, the mother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Cheola. The rehearsal dinner, given by the parents of the groom, was held at Perugini's in Wilkes-Barre.

'Lights And Shadows' Philmel Program

"Lights and Shadows" will be the program theme for the Philmel Club on Wednesday, November 8, at two-thirty o'clock in the Woman's Club.

St. Michael's Notes

Tuesday — 6:30 p.m. Grade school religion classes. Wednesday—Holy Day Synaxis of St. Michael the Archangel and all the Holy Angels. The 9 a.m. Choral Divine Liturgy and 7 p.m. Spoken Liturgy will be celebrated by Father Edward Stelmochuk, CSSR.

Stolen Cars Recovered

NEW YORK—Although 90 per cent of all automobiles stolen in the United States are recovered, according to the Insurance Information Institute about 30 per cent of the recovered cars have been damaged or stripped of parts—many to the extent that they represent total losses.

The Church honors all the angelic choirs in the observance of this very ancient feast of Archangel Michael. St. Michael, which name means 'Who is like God', is the leader of the heavenly hosts and the greatest adversary of Satan. This feast was instituted at the time of Emperor Constantine the Great in the fourth century.

Thursday — Holy Communion will be taken to the shut-ins following the 7:30 a.m. Divine Liturgy, by Father Stelmochuk, Friday — 7 p.m. Moleben to St. Michael.

Saturday — 7 p.m. Moleben to St. Michael and Confession.

Next Saturday, Nov. 12, will be the annual St. Michael's Day

Dinner. The banquet will be held in the church pavilion at 5 p.m. Also 11:30 a.m. Jr. and Sr. Hi religion classes.

The Rosary will continue to be recited each Sunday at 7:45 a.m., prior to the 8 a.m. Spoken Liturgy.

79th Annual Horse Show Is The Old Garden's Final One

A deep male voice carried across the public address system at Madison Square Garden. "Good morning, ladies and gentlemen. We're ready to start the 84th edition of the National Horse Show with the..."

The announcement of the official opening of the 79th annual event was heard by the fewer than one hundred spectators, scattered throughout the boxes, entrants in the opening event—class 34, Model Green Conformation Hunter, and those in the stalls below the Garden's main floor.

In one corner of the arena, the announcement was almost drowned out by Leo Nash's hammer as he worked feverishly with his fellow carpenters to finish the wooden arena wall before the evening's opening ceremonies just a little more than nine hours away.

"We've always said the show begins the social season," said Whitney Stone, a former president of the show and chairman of the board of Stone & Webster Inc., an engineering construction and investment banking firm.

"But the opera people always disagreed with us. I guess it depends on your point of view," said Stone.

A lot of people who sit in the prestigious box seats must have shared some of Stone's sentiments about the horse show's eight-day season, but fewer than one-quarter of the 120 boxes had anyone in them when Vince Wholey, the ringmaster, lifted the four-foot-long, brass English coaching horn to his mouth to begin the evening's action at 7:45.

By 9:30 the boxes were a sea of dinner jackets and fur coats that rose in one wave to see the opening night salutes rendered by the British, Canadian and United States teams in the ring's center.

The big attention-getter on this night was the concluding event, the International Jumping Competition.

Before that, a team of ten German youngsters, aged 8 through 16, put on a show of equestrian acrobatics. The show ends its stay at the old Garden forever next Tuesday night, Election Day future shows will be held in the new Madison Square Garden. On the last night, Philip Hofmann's (he's chairman of the board of Johnson & Johnson) yellow and black coach, drawn by four horses, is scheduled to circle the ring twice, picking up the show's officials.

As the lights dim the audience will sing "Auld Lang Syne."

Holy Redeemer Altar Society Dinner Wednesday

Holy Redeemer Parish bulletin reminds everyone of the Altar Society's annual Fall Festival party this Wednesday for the Sisters of the Divine Spirit: Sister Rose, Sister Loretta and Sister Helen. Mrs. John Andrews is chairman of the event and assisting her will be the following:

Mrs. Rose Scallise, Mrs. John Daley, Mrs. Ray Gafner, Mrs. Robert Larson Sr., Mrs. S. B. Giannotti, Mrs. Philip Reynolds and Miss Margaret Scallise. They will provide the meat course for the tureen dinner which is to be served at 6 p.m. in the church hall.

The Rev. Father Seybold invites all women of the parish to attend and bring their donations of food for the Sisters; and those who cannot attend to make their contributions any way.

...SINCE SHE GOT A NEW FLAME

Mom's new flame gives her something in common with a pretty exciting crowd—over 90% of all of the professional chefs.

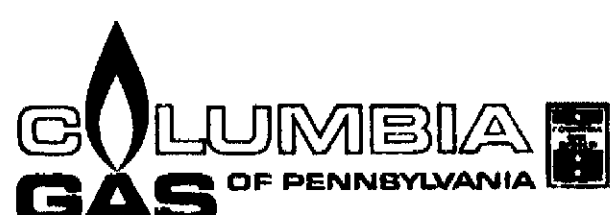

They're all cooking with Gas. For several sound reasons.

Gas cooks faster than electricity. Chefs who supervise the preparation of hundreds of meals a day just haven't time to wait for pokey electric ranges to heat up or cool down.

These men and women whose reputations depend on their cooking choose

Gas ranges because Gas cooks better than electricity... makes food taste better and look more appetizing. The 1,001 shades of heat that only a modern Gas range can give lets them—and you—bake, broil, braise, saute, simmer or stew with complete control.

People who cook for a restaurant full of discriminating gourmets—and people who cook for a kitchen full of hungry kids—know they can count on Gas ranges to let them be the good cooks they are.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
 15 1967 by The Chicago Tribune
 ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
 Q. 1—As South you hold:
 ♠QJ93 ♥5 ♦KQ105 ♣AJ109
 Your partner opens with one spade. What is your response?

A.—Two diamonds, not three spades. The limits of the jump raise are 13-16 points and this holding is worth 17 points in support of spades. Hands which are not quite strong enough for a jump shift response are properly described by bidding new suits twice before raising partner.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠AQ103 ♥KJ1042 ♦K6 ♣42
 The bidding has proceeded: South North East West
 1 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Four spades. Do not bid four hearts which might be construed as a slam try. Your hand is worth 15 points and partner can have at most 16 for his jump raise.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠Q10543 ♥765 ♦53 ♣752
 The bidding has proceeded: North East South West
 2 ♥ Pass 2 NT Pass 3 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Four hearts. This bid does not indicate any strength, it merely denotes normal trump support for the rebid heart suit. It would be completely pointless to show the spade suit. Nothing could be gained by it and confusion might result.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠KQ963 ♥82 ♦AKQ75 ♣K
 The bidding has proceeded: South West North East
 1 ♠ Pass 2 NT Pass 3 ♦ Pass 3 ♠ Pass 4 ♦ Pass 5 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—There is little doubt that a slam should be contracted for, but care should be exercised in the selection of the slam contract. Partner has shown the ace of clubs and evidently the ace of spades but seems to lack the ace of hearts for, over four diamonds it would have been easy for him to bid four hearts holding that ace, rather than five clubs. It is a moral certainty, however, that he holds the king of hearts and if you contract for a spade slam you are subject to the loss of two tricks at once. Our suggestion, therefore, is to contract for slam in no trump, permitting partner to play the hand and protect his king of hearts.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠KQ105 ♥J ♦A1095 ♣A1074
 The bidding has proceeded: West North East South
 1 ♠ 2 ♥ Dble. ?

What do you bid?
 A.—Redouble. A faux pas has been committed somewhere along the line and we would assume it was by either East or West. It is almost inconceivable that partner will not be able to win eight tricks the trumps may be banded against him. If West runs, you are in position to punish soundly anything he bids.

Q. 6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠102 ♥33 ♦AKQ10 ♣QJ964
 The bidding has proceeded: North East South West
 1 ♥ Pass 2 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Five clubs. You are not in a position to make any stronger bid, recalling that since partner has a singleton diamond your K-Q of diamonds may prove to be duplication of values.

Q. 7—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠853 ♥KQJ862 ♣KJ94
 The bidding has proceeded: North East South West
 1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ 1 ♠ Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—The quest for game should be abandoned in favor of gathering rousing. The holding of three trumps in the suit that partner has doubled makes it highly probable that West's dummy will be completely lacking in trumps. A pass is, therefore, indicated.

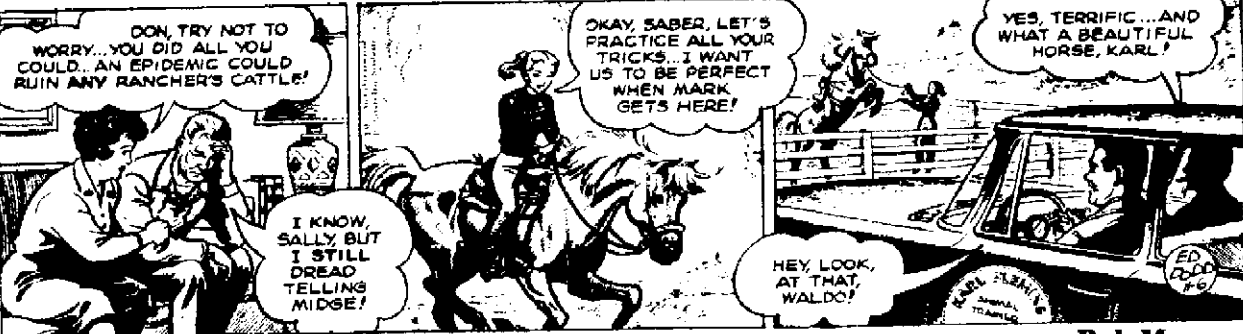

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠KJ9 ♥AK74 ♦732 ♣742
 The bidding has proceeded: North East South West
 1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Our vote is for two spades. There is, of course, a slight objection to raising with only three trumps when partner has presumably shown a four-card suit, but unfortunately there is no other bid available as a progressive step.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR MONDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1967.

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—A dictionary is usually by your side because you always want to learn more about many things, and this makes you the gregarious, companionable person you are. You lay foundations well.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Spelling, grammar, English and other languages come to you naturally. You reckon with the fact that permanence can be impermanent, and you hold quality much higher than quantity. Good for you!

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—There are times when you don't eat enough of the foods that would build your strength and you don't sleep enough. Don't think these devious wasters won't make you regret it. You could be an expert specialist.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Pocket-size efforts won't suit today. But you don't need to go to the extreme either. Skill and accuracy are your friends. Prepare well before you launch any project.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—For some things (and you know yours) there is no substitute. Make a diagram to go by. Borrow unhesitatingly from any knowledge worth reaching. There may be some trouble expressed, but don't fret.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—If you are unattached or removed from a situation, that does not mean you should remain disinterested. Look for substance over quantity. If you travel, learn all you can from it.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Been doing as you should? Then you need no special preparations for this period. But don't fall back on the job either. Many wise philosophers and aviation experts in this sector.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—You are scrupulous if living on the higher plane, and you tend to many details others wouldn't "put themselves out with." But in the long run your way pays—if you don't strain health!

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Publishers, editors, essayists, performers and gardeners abundant in this Sign and sector. Don't zip through anything too speedily or you will lose points, credits, time. A few complexes, of course!

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Administration, know-how, and dealing with the right kind of people are for you. There need be nothing humdrum about the way you wield your influence. Having top-notch equipment counts.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—This may be an excellent time for laying down new or revised plans. Well, at least you can look at them! Authority and prestige aren't much without their audience, but give them their due.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Clearly distinguish limits, make all of them well-defined, and abide by the rules you know are right. You can do "satisfactorily" or become really skilled—it's up to you personally.

YOU BORN TODAY: You will faithfully execute orders from authority, and take able command when that time comes. Many servicemen of this Sign have taken over the command and strengthened their company's position when the senior officer was disabled. You have enough elasticity of brain and brawn to move to another position when the one you have becomes untenable. Don't forget: You can be brief without being too hurried. At times you have a distinct liking for the bizarre and brilliant jewelry. Most of you outgrow this and you become shy, often shunning adornment. Don't misuse health, especially by doing too much at one time.

How to Keep Well

KAYOED BY A CORK

Champagne corks may become flying missiles causing serious eye injury. We seldom read about this unusual hazard, even though a cork from an upright bottle can reach a vertical height of 40 feet. It has been calculated that an ejected stopper strikes the eye at a velocity of approximately 45 feet per second. At this speed, it could reach the orbit from 2 feet away within one five-hundredth of a second—long before the blink reflex gets started.

Two London surgeons, writing in The Lancet, reported nine instances of champagne cork injuries to the eye. Three victims developed residual cataracts. The remainder were hurt, but had no permanent damage. Two persons, whose eyes were closed when the cork popped suffered lacerations of the upper lid. In one, the impact broke a contact lens causing serious injury to the eye. Another individual wearing conventional glasses sustained minor injury to the outer part of the orbit.

Opening champagne bottles is no longer limited to experienced personnel such as butlers and wine stewards. Four of the injured were waiters or waitresses. The left eye is usually involved because of the way a bottle is held by those who are right handed.

Injuries of this type can be avoided by using care in opening. Cover the cork and the neck of the bottle with a napkin while the wire is being undone. Then, gently ease off the cork. Always point the bottle away from the face.

Pressure within a champagne bottle is 90 pounds per square inch when the contents are chilled to 47 degrees Fahrenheit. It is much greater when the "bubbly" is at room temperature (65 degrees Fahrenheit) and even more so if the bottle has been shaken.

TOMORROW: Cause of Galbladder Distress.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

EMOTIONAL HOARSENESS

F.O.B. writes: A friend of mine has a very responsible position. When business is down, he becomes hoarse and loses his voice. When conditions straighten out, his voice is normal. Could nervous exhaustion be affecting the throat?

REPLY: Yes, provided he develops nervous exhaustion when business is poor. Hoarseness can stem from an emotional upheaval.

NEEDING HEMORRHOIDS

Mrs. D.J. writes: Someone told me to have my hemorrhoids needled and my troubles would be over. Do you think so?

REPLY: This depends upon what your troubles are. Injection treatments help in certain hemorrhoidal conditions but not in others.

Putnam's Book Shop To Open November 13th

Putnam's Book Shop, 309 Pennsylvania ave. E., owned and managed by H.C. Putnam Jr., will open for business on Monday, November 13.

The new retail outlet will offer a complete selection of hardbound books for the entire family—including current and standard fiction, art, history, cooking, humor, juvenile literature, music, reference, recreation and natural history—as well as a varied assortment of quality paperback books. Over 1800 titles are in stock, nearly 500 of which are books for children.

Putnam, a native of Warren, is married to the former Mary Dalrymple of North Warren. They have two children, Wendy and Andrew. A school teacher and administrator in Wilmington, Delaware, for the past nine years, Putnam now resides with his family at 108 Woods road, North Warren.

Customers will be greeted in the newly-decorated store space at 9 a.m. on opening day. Browsing is encouraged, and parents and children alike are especially invited to look closely at the many beautiful new books for children from all the major publishers.

Struthers Promotes Seiffe

Warren J. Seiffe has been elected vice president-marketing of Struthers Wells Corporation, and will be responsible for all phases of domestic and international marketing and sales.

Seiffe previously joined Struthers Wells as manager of a new department offering a complete line of dryers, turbo-mixers and agitators, after years of experience in the engineering and sales of process equipment with General American Transportation Corporation and its Fuller Division, and Link-Belt Company.

A graduate of Kansas State University, with a B.S. degree in mechanical engineering, Seiffe is a member of ASME. Struthers Wells engineers and manufactures a wide variety of process equipment and pressure vessels for the chemicals, petrochemical and petroleum refining industries, including heating systems, heat transfer equipment, dryers and mixers, crystallizers and evaporators, distillation equipment and pressure vessels.

Additionally, the company supplies the power industry with both nuclear and conventional equipment, gas turbine packages and related engineering services. Through subsidiaries Struthers is active in a variety of other fields, including steam generators for secondary oil recovery and recovery of sulphur through the Frasch Process, water and waste treatment.

WEEK IN FINANCE

Wall St.'s Mood Takes a Shift

By THOMAS E. MULLANEY

N. Y. Times Financial Editor

(c) 1967 New York Times News Service

NEW YORK—There has been an abrupt shift in Wall Street's mood. The complacency of last week has given way to deep concern and bearishness.

The sudden change developed when it became virtually certain this week that no tax bill or significant moves to restrain federal spending would emerge from Congress this year.

Consequently the nation seems faced with more severe inflation, a new credit crisis and further difficulties with its international payments deficit, while Congress remains oblivious of the dangers.

Financial markets, recognizing the problems for the economy, lost their composure this week and resumed the price slide that began early in the fall.

Major stock averages sustained heavy losses this week and sank to their lowest levels since April. The Dow-Jones Industrials, for instance, fell more than 31 points this week, stretching their decline more than 9 per cent from their September peak to yesterday's 856.62.

Meanwhile, over the last two weeks, the bond market tried several times to convince itself that interest rates would at least stabilize for a time and bond prices would stop falling. Each time however the market sank again, pushing most interest rates to their highest levels in half a century.

The United States government last Monday offered a seven-year note bearing a 5.75 per cent interest rate, highest on a treasury issue since mid-1921. The issue was attractive enough to bring in $14.1 billion of orders for the $1.5 billion of notes the treasury put up for sale, and large investors got only 7.5 per cent of the amount they sought.

Even with this high rate, though, the notes slipped a little in price for a time, pushing their yield above 5.75 per cent. After the treasury told how large the demand was, the notes rallied moderately Thursday morning.

But by Thursday afternoon the price recovery had spent itself and pessimism returned to the bond market.

Bond dealers, a thoroughly discouraged group today, asserted late in the week that the drop in bond prices and the seemingly inexorable climb in interest rates would continue until taxes are raised and federal spending curbed, or until Vietnam peace talks are started.

President Johnson put his finger on the reason for the intense disturbances in the financial world as aptly as any security analyst when he said this week:

"Our people are concerned, and that concern may be reflected in the markets. They do not know what to expect from the Congress now or in the future so far as taxes are concerned. Some of this uncertainty is being reflected in the market. I think it is being reflected in the bond market and in interest rates."

"I think you are paying every day—more than you know, right this moment—for the inaction that is taking place and for the refusal of our people to stand up and take the action that responsibility requires."

In those and other statements the President was finally beginning to apply strong public pressure on behalf of his proposed 10 per cent tax surcharge.

Not enough time remains for congressional action on taxes before adjournment this year. That means that the full burden of keeping a rein on the economy will fall on the federal reserve system.

The fed will have to feel its way cautiously. It will be confronted with two difficult choices: Either to feed inflationary pressures by increasing bank reserves at the same rapid pace it has done this year, or slow down monetary expansion and watch interest rates rise even above their present levels.

The latter course may be the more appropriate. Lief Olsen, senior vice president and economist for the First National City Bank of New York, advocates such a policy.

"If you try to slow down the increase in interest rates through a continued generous supply of bank reserves," Olsen said, "you feed inflationary expectations. High rates of inflation have almost always courted high rates of interest. Consequently, this could be a futile effort."

"It would be better to try to discourage some borrowers from the market and encourage lenders to come in."

Failure of Congress to enact a tax bill will create other problems. Higher taxes would make it possible for the treasury to pay off a substantial amount of short-term debt in the first half of next year, but without increased revenues the treasury may have to borrow an additional $2 billion to $5 billion in the first half of 1968, instead of returning funds to the market for the private sector to borrow.

In the first half of 1967, it is recalled, the treasury repaid $11.5 billion of debt. Thus the first half of next year could see a swing of at least $13 billion in the treasury's financing operations, thus intensifying pressures in the credit markets.

In a recent estimate of credit demands in 1968, Sidney Homer, a partner of Salomon Brothers & Hutzler, placed the treasury's requisition of funds, assuming enactment of the surtax, at $12 billion, against $3 billion this year. He said he expected total credit demands in 1968 to aggregate $67 billion—$8 billion above 1967 estimates and $16 billion over 1966.

While worry over the consequences of fiscal inaction in Washington was the main cause of stock market turbulence, contributing factors were unfavorable aspects of third-quarter earnings reports, concern over the automotive strike and the report that the Justice Department has been weighing anti-trust action against G.M.C.

A broad list of stocks declined and the major averages broke through various supposed support levels.

On the New York Stock Exchange 1,220 issues declined, only 308 managed to register gains.

The Dow-Jones Industrial Average fell 31.56 points this week to 856.62. This was its largest loss since August, 1966. The index has now dropped 87 points—or 9 per cent—from the year's peak set only seven weeks ago. It now stands at its lowest point since June 5.

The New York Times combined average of 50 stocks plunged 25 points to 502.13. Standard & Poor's combined index fell 3.18 to 91.78, and the stock exchange index was down 1.76 to 50.96.

Despite the losses, trading volume did not increase appreciably. Turnover on the Big Board this week totaled 52.8 million shares, against 50.9 million last week, when declines in the averages were moderate.

Alcan Aluminum, Ltd., topped the most-active list for the week with trades of 1,382,300 shares. Its volume included a single block of 1,153,700 traded on Tuesday at a new low of 23. This was the largest block ever handled on the Big Board in terms of dollar value and number of shares. The stock dropped 1/2 this week to 23 1/2.

Amex, OverCounter Prices Take a Dip

By WILLIAM D. SMITH

(c) N. Y. Times News Service

NEW YORK—Prices plunged on the American Stock Exchange and the Over-the-Counter market this week but not as heavily as on the "Big Board."

The American's index fell 50 cents this week to $21.95. Its high point was $22.47 on Monday. Volume was 26,252,020 shares, a drop from last week's 33,459,514.

On the Over-the-Counter market the national quotation bureau's index of unlisted industrial stocks fell 7.98 this week to 327.88.

Among the counter stocks that countered the downturn were Kentucky Fried Chicken, up 5, Interstate Hosts 3, Kingsport Press 2 and Marriott Hot Shoppes 5/2.

House of Vision advanced a point on a report of increased nine month earnings. Beauty Counselors rose 1 1/2 for the same reason.

A gain of 1/2 point was registered by American Greetings on the announcement of a proposed 3-for-2 stock split.

Many of the scientific and computer issues that have been in the forefront of the recent advances led this week's retreat.

Alphanumeric dipped 4, Computest was off 4 1/2, Electronic Memories 2 1/2, Systems Engineering Laboratories 3 and Computing and Software 2 1/2.

The publicly held advertising agencies also moved lower. Doyle Dane Bernbach fell 5 1/2 and Ogilvy & Mather dipped 1 1/2. On the American Stock Exchange this week's five most active stocks all advanced.

The leader was Synalcraft, which advanced 6 1/2 to 33 on sales of 687,300 shares. Reports had circulated that Dunalectron, which owns a process for taking pollutants out of fuel oil cheaply, would be the target of a takeover bid by a major oil company.

The second most active issue was Gale Industries, which gained 6 1/2 at 18 1/2 on volume of 587,100 shares.

Other active issues were Consolidated Oil and Gas, which climbed 1 1/2 to 12 1/2, Transcontinental Investing up 2 to 12 and Hydrometals, up 4 1/2 to 25 1/2.

Knott Hotels advanced 4 1/2. Hotel stocks have been active recently.

Pennsylvania's Economy Eases Back in September

UNIVERSITY PARK — Pennsylvania's economy generally eased back a bit in September but did not deviate much from its usual seasonal pattern, business analysts at The Pennsylvania State University said yesterday.

A study of total employment factory manhours, and factory payrolls indicates that while the State is no longer suffering further economic loss from the recent "mini-recession," activity remains at, or slightly below, August levels.

The nation, in contrast, has pretty well recouped losses in manhours and payrolls and is close to 1966 operating levels. The full impact of the strikes has not yet shown up in the economy of the nation or the state.

The nation, they note, appears to have recovered quickly from the recent economic decline despite the strikes; the state, not badly hurt, is nevertheless taking longer to recover.

September was the best month of the third quarter for steel production in Pennsylvania. Some 2,484,000 tons were made —more than in August, although September is a shorter month. The average daily tonnage of 82.8 was the largest since February.

The steel industry is the soft coal industry's best customer, but although steel production was up in September, coal production for the month was not quite up to expectations.

September witnessed a brisk gain in residential construction in both nation and state. Housing starts increased nationally in what is described as a "massive jump" in the Northeast. In Pennsylvania, there was a nonseasonal spurt in the value of contracts awarded for residential building.

In nonresidential construction, Pennsylvania had a slump on contracts awards and the money market is listed as the possible reason. While banks are now plentifully supplied with money as a result of Federal Reserve policy and reduced borrowing by corporations earlier this year, they are reported to be reluctant to put their funds to long term use since they cannot foresee how much longer their supply of funds will be plentiful.

Manufacturing employment in Pennsylvania, after nonseasonal losses in August, rose in September. Gov. Romney's wife injured

DETROIT (AP) — Lenore Romney, wife of Michigan Gov. George Romney, was hospitalized yesterday after she slipped and fell in a bathtub and broke her shoulder. The governor's press secretary said Mrs. Romney, who will be 58 next Thursday, was admitted to William Beaumont Hospital in near-royal Oak and "there were no complications." The accident took place at the Romney's home in suburban Bloomfield Hills.

Howard Tait Gets Ajax Appointment

Howard Tait's appointment as manager, marketing services for Ajax was announced yesterday by Harry Robertson, director of petroleum industry marketing. Tait will be responsible for the administration of Ajax petroleum industry sales procedures and activities in Corry. He will supervise the processing of orders, preparation of quotations and the creation of new sales programs for Ajax in its oilfield markets. Tait will also handle advertising coordination, the administration of warranty policies, and the direction of export sales activities.

Tait comes to Ajax from California where he was the product manager for the Fluid Packed Pump Division of the National Supply Division of Armco Steel Corporation. Prior to that he was a staff engineer for the same company, and a store manager in both Venezuela and Mexico. He is a member of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, the Society of Petroleum Engineers, and the National Management Association. He holds a bachelor of science degree from Pennsylvania State University, and he has done extensive post graduate work in management science and computer technology.

Howard Tait will be based in Corry. He is married and has two children. Both he and his wife are originally from the Western Pennsylvania area.

Ajax Iron Works has been producing products for the petroleum industry since 1877. The company's specialty is in machinery requiring minimum maintenance and capable of unattended operation in remote locations for extended periods of time. The current product line includes a high quality series of engines, pumps and compressors. The compressors are used for well depletion, gas injection, pipe line service, natural gas processing, and gas storage throughout the petroleum industry and municipalities around the world.

Steel Production Up Since Strike Settlement

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Steel production has picked up since the settlement of the steel haulers' strike but the threat of walkouts against General Motors and Chrysler "continues to fog the steel demand outlook," Steel Magazine said yesterday.

The metalworking weekly noted agreement on basic issues has been reached between the United Auto Workers and the Ford Motor Co. "but Ford production resumption still awaits the settlement of local issues at various plants."

Steelmen are making plans to step up production in the third quarter to "meet an expected surge in strike-hedge buying in the first and second quarters of 1968," the magazine said.

Steel said some idle blast furnaces and steelmaking facilities were activated last week and "more units will undoubtedly be returned to service as the fourth quarter advances. The upswing... is expected to be gradual."

Steel estimated output of raw production last week at 2,582,000 net tons, up eight-tenths of one per cent from the previous week.

The magazine noted if current estimated weekly output is maintained for the rest of 1967, it will result in production of about 126 million net tons—the figure predicted early this year.

Wife Injured

DETROIT (AP) — Lenore Romney, wife of Michigan Gov. George Romney, was hospitalized yesterday after she slipped and fell in a bathtub and broke her shoulder. The governor's press secretary said Mrs. Romney, who will be 58 next Thursday, was admitted to William Beaumont Hospital in near-royal Oak and "there were no complications." The accident took place at the Romney's home in suburban Bloomfield Hills.

The most southerly known active volcano is Mount Erebus on Victoria Land in Antarctica, discovered in 1841 by Capt. J. C. Ross of the British Royal Navy.

HOWARD TAIT

Ajax Iron Works has been producing products for the petroleum industry since 1877. The company's specialty is in machinery requiring minimum maintenance and capable of unattended operation in remote locations for extended periods of time. The current product line includes a high quality series of engines, pumps and compressors. The compressors are used for well depletion, gas injection, pipe-line service, natural gas processing, and gas storage throughout the petroleum industry and municipalities around the world.

Howard Tait Gets Ajax Appointment

Howard Tait's appointment as manager, marketing services for Ajax was announced yesterday by Harry Robertson, director of petroleum industry marketing. Tait will be responsible for the administration of Ajax petroleum industry sales procedures and activities in Corry. He will supervise the processing of orders, preparation of quotations and the creation of new sales programs for Ajax in its oil-field markets. Tait will also handle advertising coordination, the administration of warranty policies, and the direction of export sales activities.

Tait comes to Ajax from California where he was the product manager for the Fluid Packed Pump Division of the National Supply Division of Armco Steel Corporation. Prior to that he was a staff engineer for the same company, and a store manager in both Venezuela and Mexico. He is a member of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, the Society of Petroleum Engineers, and the National Management Association. He holds a bachelor of science degree from Pennsylvania State University, and he has done extensive post graduate work in management science and computer technology.

Howard Tait will be based in Corry. He is married and has two children. Both he and his wife are originally from the Western Pennsylvania area.

Steel Production Up Since Strike Settlement

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Steel production has picked up since the settlement of the steel haulers' strike but the threat of walkouts against General Motors and Chrysler "continues to fog the steel demand outlook," Steel Magazine said yesterday.

The metalworking weekly noted agreement on basic issues has been reached between the United Auto Workers and the Ford Motor Co. "but Ford production resumption still awaits the settlement of local issues at various plants."

Steelmen are making plans to step up production in the third quarter to "meet an expected surge in strike-hedge buying in the first and second quarters of 1968," the magazine said.

Steel said some idle blast furnaces and steelmaking facilities were activated last week and "more units will undoubtedly be returned to service as the fourth quarter advances. The upswing... is expected to be gradual."

Steel estimated output of raw production last week at 2,582,000 net tons, up eight-tenths of one per cent from the previous week.

The magazine noted if current estimated weekly output is maintained for the rest of 1967, it will result in production of about 126 million net tons—the figure predicted early this year.

RECEIVES DIPLOMA

ist toolmaking, a course designed especially for Sylvania apprentices. This related trade instruction is one requirement of the four-year Sylvania Apprenticeship Program. Wingard has completed more than 3,000 hours of his 8,000 hour apprenticeship. (Photo by Mansfield)

Stamps In The News

Next year U.S. postage stamps will commemorate a variety of anniversaries, events and people from Walt Disney to law enforcement—much to the delight of collectors all over the world.

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien made public seven of the commemoratives which will be issued in 1968. This is nearly half of the total amount, since the United States puts out approximately 15 such stamps each year.

The 1968 stamps will commemorate:

Hemis Fair '68—the international exposition to take place at San Antonio, Tex., from April 6 to Oct. 6. The occasion is San Antonio's 250th anniversary.

Sesquicentennial of Illinois statehood—to be issued Feb. 12 at Shawneetown, the state's oldest post office in continuous operation. There no doubt will be a tie in with Lincoln's birthday.

Fiftieth anniversary of air mail service—to honor the anniversary of the first regularly scheduled air mail service in the U.S., begun on May 15, 1918, on a Washington-Philadelphia-New York route.

Walt Disney—a tribute to the creator of Mickey Mouse and other beloved cartoon characters. Disney, who died last Dec. 15, was the recipient of 700 honors and awards including the Presidential Freedom Medal.

Law Enforcement—this stamp will publicize the efforts of law enforcement authorities at local levels and encourage the respect for law and order nationwide.

One subject each in the American Painting series and the American Folklore series.

With the exception of the Illinois stamp, dates and places of issuance have not as yet been decided. All the commemoratives will be in the first-class mail rate, except for the air mail a 11 anniversary which, naturally, will be an air mail.

The Boy Scouts of Ghana celebrated their 50th anniversary this year and a special set of three stamps has been issued by that country to honor the occasion.

One stamp shows a camp fire and two Scouts against a background of a Boy Scout symbol. Another depicts a Boy Scout with a knapsack on his back during a hike. The third bears a portrait of Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scout movement.

++ Hungary has issued eight new stamps dedicated to operas. Depicted are scenes from the following: "Prince Igor" (Act II) by Borodin, "Der Freischütz" (Act III) by Weber, "The Magic Flute" (Act II) by Mozart, "Duke Bluebeard's Castle" by Bela Bartok, "Carmen" (Act II) by Bizet, "Don Carlos" (Act I) by Verdi, "Tannhäuser" (Act I) by Wagner, "Hunyadi László" (Act III) by Ferenc Erkel.

++ Lebanon has issued six new stamps honoring the 22nd anniversary of the United Nations and the San Francisco Pact of 1945. Three of the stamps illustrate the Veterans War Memorial Building. The other three show U.N. and Lebanon flags.

Lottsville News

Mrs. Florence Woodburn, Ruth Ann, Barbara and Patricia were visitors at Niagara Falls on Sunday.

Edmund Woodburn, Miss Agnes Woodburn and Mrs. Florence Woodburn were dinner guests of Mrs. Margaret Culver of Corry on Tuesday.

Mrs. Rulin Kerr of Titusville and Mrs. Ronald Garner and son also of Titusville were Wednesday afternoon visitors of Mrs. E. G. Brown and Miss Marjorie Brown.

Mrs. E. G. Brown, who had been a patient in Corry Memorial hospital in Corry nearly four months was discharged on Tuesday.

Miss Esther Brundage of Spring Creek is caring for Mrs. Brown.

The children of the Lottsville area collected $35 for UNICEF on Tuesday evening. After making collections they returned to the Methodist Church where refreshments were served by Mrs. Lloyd Price, Mrs. Harold Mallory and Mrs. Walter Chase, members of the W.S.C.S. of the church.

Drivers were Mrs. Richard Jordan, Mrs. John Luther, Mrs. Grant Spelling, Lloyd Price and Jerry Chapman.

The W.S.C.S. of the Lottsville Methodist Church will serve supper at the church Election Day starting at 5 p.m.

Mrs. Elvan Ayling, Mrs. Marvin Johnson and Mrs. Helen Johnson are the committee in charge.

Psychiatrist Describes State's Abortion Law : 'Antiquated'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A psychiatrist at Temple University Medical School described Pennsylvania's law on abortion as "antiquated and ineffectual" and said it should be reviewed with the possibility of revising it.

And the psychiatrist, Dr. R. Bruce Stone, said that despite changing attitudes on abortion and contraception, the attitude on these subjects remains almost unchanged in medical schools.

Dr. Stone, chairman of Temple's department of psychiatry, said at a seminar on psychiatry Sunday, Pennsylvania's abortion law was written at a time when medical conditions could threaten a woman's life.

He said the law is so written that, if interpreted literally, any abortion is against the law. He said now any abortion "performed wilfully or unlawfully" is against the law, but he said

Stone said abortions and contraception "are not so much of a medical problem but a social problem dominated by moral and ethical values, and just as the law governing abortion tends to be somewhat behind the times, so does the morality of the medical profession."

He said there are one million abortions a year in the United States and 90 per cent of them are performed illegally.

He said there also is increasing use of contraceptives, including "the Pill."

He said despite this indication of changing attitudes on abortion and contraception, the moral climate in medical schools as prevented doctors from learning about them.

"In fact," he said, "the average male medical student knows less about contraception by the time he graduates than some young women he has been dating."
